VOICE OF INDIAN GHOST

Legend of Lake Whatcom- Strange Sounds on the Lonely Water.

(Portland Oregonian.)

Lake Whatcom is certainly one of the most beautiful sheets of water in North America. It lies three and one-half miles east of Bellingham Bay, and almost surrounded by mountains averaging from 2,000 to 3,500 feet in height. It winds among the hills with a wild, picturesque grace truly grand. The streams issue from small but fertile valleys. Upon its borders, in the last four years, settlers have located, and the daily sound of the ax, mingled with the mellow tones of the cow bells, promises to awaken it from its dreamy sleep of ages. The lake is eleven miles in length, and its general course is north and south. It is about a mile in width, and resembles a half-extended arm, with two long, narrow inlets at the southern end like a thumb and forefinger, one pointing east and the other south.

Reveille Island rises out of the blue waters of the lake like a green-capped tower. The summit of the island is about one hundred and fifty feet above the level of the lake, and the shape of the island is almost that of an egg. The north and west sides have a gradual slope to the summit and the east and southern sides are steep and precipitous. It is covered with a heavy growth of fir and cedar timber and the rocks are of a sand formation. They contain palm leaf, sycamore, and fern leaf fossils, thus affording an interesting spot for geological investigation.

There is a story told of a dark and bloody tragedy that took place upon its shores. It is said that in the early days, before the coming of white men, a band of northern Indians invaded Bellingham Bay, and, after most of the native Indians were killed, the few remaining fled to the lake for safety; but, being closely pursued, took refuge on the island, and, finding escape impossible, they resolved to seek death in the cold waters rather than be taken by their cruel foe, and, while chanting their death song, they proceeded to a reef at the north end, and springing into the lake were drowned, thus escaping by death the tortures of their exultant enemy.

Since then it is said that strange sounds can be heard on a still night resembling the chant of an Indian warrior. The story was first told by an old trapper, who, on returning late one moonlight night from his traps to his camp on Swan Creek, and while passing the island, was startled by a strange noise. He ceased paddling and listened. As he paused there slowly rose from a deep canyon on the opposite side of the lake a murmur like the distant whisper of the sea, made by the waters breaking in soft music upon a pebbly shore, becoming louder and louder until it deepened into a weird-like chant, and slowly coming across the lake, as if wafted by the wind to the north side of the island, which on reaching it continued up to the summit; pausing there a moment, as if recovering its course, it slowly descended to the reef on the south side and was lost beneath the deep waters. As it died away a slight breeze sprung up and ruffled the smooth surface of the lake, and the moon shone with redoubled splendor, making the waters glisten and glimmer.

Different parties of pleasure-seekers have since heard the same strange sounds, each one having different opinions as to its cause. Some say it is the noise of a cataract across the lake; others think it is caused by the sighing of the wind in the trees, and others contend that it is the death-chant of an Indian warrior on his journey to the land of the Great Spirit. Whatever may be its cause the mystery still remains unsolved.

ROSCOE CONKLING.

Bulletin Telegraphic Reports Sent Each Hour of the Condition of the Ex-Senator.

NEW YORK, April 10.—At 9:30 this morning Dr. Fordyce Barker said Mr. Conkling's condition was much improved and that the operation that had been performed seemed to have accomplished all that was expected. His temperature had fallen to 99 and his pulse to 90. He slept three hours during the night.

At 11 o'clock the senator was reported as not being so well as in the early morning hours, he being conscious only at intervals of short duration. The effect of the operation is beginning to show itself in the way of causing a heavy strain upon his system.

Frederick Conkling said at noon that the senator was very low and he feared there was no hope of his recovery.

At 2:35 p. m. Dr. Barker came from the room where he had been since 2 o'clock. He said his patient's condition was about the same. A reporter asked the doctor if he thought the senator would live, and he replied that Mr. Conkling's condition was very critical, but while there was life there was hope.

This afternoon Mrs. Fred Grant and Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant called at Mrs. Conkling's and left flowers, as an expression of their sympathy and their hopes of a speedy recovery.

INCREASING NUMBERS.

The Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers' Surprise to Manufacturers.

PITTSBURG, April 10.—The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel workers is growing in numbers and at the next meeting of the national convention between thirty and forty new lodges will be represented. Heretofore none but skilled workmen were eligible to membership, but after the last convention it was decided to admit others. This fact has been kept a secret, the idea being to increase the strength of the organization without the knowledge of the manufacturers or others. This morning it was learned that at the meeting of the advisory board it was decided to take everybody in employed around the rolling mill, except common laborers.

T. V. POWDERLY

Sends a Letter to the Knights on the Eight Hour Question.

NEW YORK, April 10.—General Master Workman Powderly has written a letter to the Knights of Labor throughout the country in regard to the hours of labor. He advises the knights to discuss the eight hour plan judiciously with their employers.

He says that an immediate change cannot be insisted on, but that a practical plan should be perfected. He says: "Workingmen, and common people, generally are rulers in our cities and towns and they should at once begin to make their power felt in the matter of shortening the hours of labor."

CONGRESS.

The Dead Lock Continues and the House Only Stops to Adopt a Bridge Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The house continued its dead lock, only stopping to adopt a conference report upon the bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river at Memphis.

The president to-day sent to the senate the following nominations: Henry B. Lovering, of Massachusetts, marshal of the United States for the district of Massachusetts; Claude M. Johnson, of Kentucky, Indian agency in Arizona; Lieut. Col. Cyrus B. Comstock, to be colonel major; J. A. Smith to be lieutenant colonel.

Four Lynched.

KANSAS CITY, April 10.—A special from Woodward, Ind. T., says that forty farmers from Ashland and other Kansas towns went into No-Man's land last week and strung up four horse thieves. They now have nine more of them barricaded in the Cherokee strip, just east of No-Man's land, and intend to swing them if they get them.

The Metropolitan Bankers.

CINCINNATI, April 10.—The case of DeCamp and Means of the Metropolitan National Bank, was set for trial in the United States court to-day, but owing to the illness of Mr. Means and the absence of Judge Jackson it goes over until May, and, possibly, to June.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Indiana: Colder, fair weather, preceeded in eastern portion by rain.

CHIEF ARTHUR.

Returns to Chicago and it is Thought the Burlington Strike Will Assume a New Phase.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Chief Arthur has returned to the headquarters of the striking Burlington engineers and firemen. He arrived this morning from Cleveland and went at once into conference with Chief Sargent and Chairman Hoge. It is generally assumed, that with his presence, the strike on the Burlington would enter upon a new phase.

Six weeks ago yesterday the great Burlington strike began, and at a cost of fully $2,000,000 to both sides, to say nothing of the cost to the public, has been unceasingly carried on. Both sides expressed themselves confidently. It was stated at the engineers' headquarters that seventy-five employes at the general offices of the company had been discharged, as had also 50 per cent. of the operatives in the Keokuk shops. Speaking for the company, Paul Morton said, regarding the discharges: "It is true we are curtailing expenses wherever we see an opportunity to do so, but there has been no such wholesale slaughter as you speak of.

COLONEL ROBERTSON.

Republican Schemes to Force Him Into the Race for Lieutenant Governor.

The Indianapolis News says:

It is the opinion of some lawyers that the constitution very clearly provides that an unexpired term for lieutenant governorship may be filled by appointment, not by election. If this be the correct interpretation, the Indiana republicans may conclude that the only thing for them to do is to nominate R. S. Robertson for lieutenant governor. If he is already the lieutenant governor it will not impair his title to the office to be elected again. If he is elected to some other office before the expiration of four years from the day of his election, it will be accepted as a confession that he has not been the lieutenant-governor and the party will lose whatever of prestige may have been gained by its course in maintaining that Robertson and not Green Smith was president of the last senate. Whether this is only a subterfuge of the party to force Colonel Robertson to accept the lieutenant-governorship again is in some doubt. There are republicans who are opposing his nomination to the governorship, to which he aspires. It is claimed that he can not procure the support of his own congressional district for governor, but that for lieutenant governor it would be solid for him. Allen county would of course support him for either office. Speaker Sayre, of the last house, is supposed to be willing to have lightning strike him. He believes Governor Porter should consent to run for governor again, but he is for the nominee. He says that if Robertson should decline the lieutenant governorship, he (Sayre) would accept the nomination to that office, if proffered.

AH! THERE!

The Whitley County Republicans Snub the Gazette.

The republicans of Whitley county met in mass convention, at Columbia City, Saturday last, and selected delegates to the several conventions to be hereafter held. The convention indorsed General Harrison for president, snubbing Judge Gresham, the Gazette's candidate.

"Lagrange and Wabash counties have done likewise," said a republican to-day, "so that the Gazette's party influence is laughing stock."

GEORGE LAIBLE.

He Gets Off Easy and Comes to Fort Wayne.

Yesterday at Logansport the case against George Laible, who forged the name of his brother-in-law to a note, come up for hearing.

The young man begged off, promised better behavior in the future, and at the request of the brother-in-law, he was let go. Mr. Laible returned to his home in this city last night.

Trot Him Out.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 10.—General Alfred H. Terry, who is a citizen of this state, introduces a new factor in Connecticut politics. It is probable that he will be brought before the public for the republican nomination for governor.

LOCOMOTIVE SPARKS

Set Fire to a Saloon and The Entire Business Portion of a Florida Town is Destroyed.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April, 10.—Sparks from the railroad engines set fire to a saloon at Tavares, a small village 100 miles south of here, yesterday, and the entire building was quickly in flames. The fire spread rapidly and by noon every business block but two was in ashes and seven or eight cottages suffered the same fate. The town had no fire protection. Twenty firms are burned out. The loss is fully $180,000 and $10,000 will cover all the insurance there was.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 10.—The grist mill of C. H. Jones, of East Jamestown burned early this morning. Loss $15,000; insurance $10,000.

HAVANNA, April 10.—Advices from Matanzas state that the crisis of the cane fields and all the houses of the Dolores estate have been burned. The fire spread to three adjoining estates, the Dianana, the Andres and the Santona, destroying large quantities of cane and killing a large number of cattle.

LOCAL NEWS.

John J. Davis and Lurinda R. Seitz, Henry Kruse and Caroline Luehrs have been licensed to wed.

Henry Heidenrich was arrested to-day on a warrant from Justice Ryan, for assaulting Alice Heidenrich.

A clerk for Beverforden, the druggist, was fined for selling liquor on Sunday by Esquire Ryan.

Judge McClellan, of Auburn, is in the city. The judge is a prominent democratic candidate for congress.

A Libel Verdict.

JACKSONVILLE FLA., April 10. In the libel suit of E. H. Lews against News and Herald, the jury rendered a verdict at midnight of $10,000 damages in favor of the plaintiff.

A New Jury.

The following jurors were drawn for the April term of the circuit court to-day:

A. G. Friend, city.
James T. Hanna, city.
John W. Crawford, Perry township.
Geo. W. Linden, Jefferson township.
Alexander Boston, Springfield township.
Geo. G. Nuttle, Milan township.
John H. Barclay, Monroe township.
Jacob Suter, Lafayette township.
Hiram Porter, St. Joe township.
Eugene Parin, Perry township.
John A. Bowser, Lafayette township.
Henry Tonkle, Cedar Creek township.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

THE advisability of testing as foggy weather signals sudden flashes, such as those of gunpowder, has been suggested to the British lighthouse authorities by Lord Rayleigh and Prof. Stokes, who think the flashes might attract attention where an equal fixed light might escape notice.

SOME people doubt the poisonous effect of nutmeg, but several cases of nutmeg-poisoning have been noted in the British Medical Journal during the past summer. A whole nutmeg was taken in four of the cases, and five whole ones in the remaining case. In still another case, the use of half a nutmeg in a hot drink was nearly as fatal.

THE large birds, like the other large animals, are steadily going, and all may soon disappear from the earth. It is believed that the Lammergeyer, or Alpine vulture, has just become completely extinct in Switzerland, a solitary female specimen, which has dwelt on the Blotchhorn during the last twenty-five years, having at last fallen a victim to poison.

REFERRING to the British birds that swarm in South Africa in winter, Prof. Seebohm states that on the coast of Natal he must have seen hundreds of thousands of barn swallows, evidently collected to return to northern Europe. Swifts and other species were numerous. Many of these did not breed within 8,000 miles of those parts, and some not within 10,000.

CURIOUS effects are known to be often produced by colors on persons and animals. The sight of an obnoxious color may induce an attack of hysterics, nausea, or a headache, or it may cause a violent fit of ill temper. The offending color is sometimes blue, sometimes yellow, but oftener red or scarlet. Scientific attention is being directed to these phenomena.

THE French physician Fizeau calculated the velocity of light at 185,157 miles a second; Cornu, another Frenchman, calculated it at 185,420, and Michelson obtained 186,380 as the result of his calculations. Wheatstone, the English electrician, found that free electricity traveled 288,000 miles a second; Kirchoff concluded, from theoretical considerations, that an electrical current sent through a wire in which it meets no resistance has the velocity of 192,924 miles a second. The velocity of an electric current sent through iron wire is 62,100 miles a second; through copper wire, 111,780 miles.

HOW WHEAT LOOKS.

As Viewed Through the Specs of the Washington Statistician by the Returns.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The April statistical returns to the department of agriculture relate to the condition of winter grain and of farm animals. The variable temperature of March seriously injured wheat in the central states of the west and some loss from winter killing appears even in Texas. On the Atlantic coast the winter injury was very slight.

The present appearance of the crop is quite unfavorable. As spring is late, and the present growth of late wheat comparatively small, the favorable spring weather might make material improvement.

The average of the present condition is 82 per cent—lower than in recent years, excepting only 1883 and 1885, when the averages were 80 and 76 per cent respectively.

The averages of states of principal production are: New York, 94; Pennsylvania, 90; Ohio, 68; Michigan, 76; Indiana, 75; Illinois, 74; Missouri, 82; Kansas, 97.

EXCEEDINGLY PLEASANT.

The Fourth Annual Banquet of the Fort Wayne Bicycle Club—The Toasts and Responses.

The Fort Wayne Bicycle Club is an organization of which the city can boast with pride as it is the largest in the state, with elegant meeting parlors and a membership embracing some of the brightest and first young men in the city.

It is needless to say that its annual banquets are anticipated with much pleasure and that invitations to its feasts are prized highly.

The Fourth annual banquet of the club, at the Wayne hotel last night, was an exception to the rule, for it surpassed in elegance, brilliancy and gayety, all former occasions.

When the wheelmen and their friends stepped into the great dining hall, the tables were pictures of epicurean art. Fragrant cut flowers mingled with rare tropical fruits to lend inviting enchantment to a scene that approached symposiac perfection when the menu card was spread.

It is needless to describe the McKinnie viands or to extol the wines when they come from the hands of that prince of caterers, Mr. R. J. Devine, and the modern Epicurus, Mr. Fred Unger.

Such feasts are rare and it is needless to say that the wheelmen and their guests were equal to the occasion, with an army of genteel waiters at their service, in regulation dress, under command of Mr. F. H. Henson.

As the banquet approached the close, the toasts of the evening were read by the toast master, Mr. Carl P. Swain, in the order named.

The club must have been in its wisest vein when Mr. Swain was chosen, for indeed his merry, sparkling witticisms and pleasant sayings were gems of the evening. This is the "feast of reason!"

The responses, it must be said together, were of the happiest, brightest character, with enough pleasantry and word pictures to keep the company in the best humor and cheer.

After the regular program was exhausted, Mr. Gart Shober, of the Journal, Mr. W. P. Cooper, of the press at large, Mr. Perry DeHaven and others followed in very interesting speeches. After a toast to the Wayne hotel and its popular proprietor, Mr. Will McKinnie, the jolly party adjourned from an evening that will always be recalled with pleasure.

The following club members were present: C. J. McLain, C. W. Edgerton, T. F. Thieme, F. S. Lightfoot, Perry N. DeHaven, C. P. Swain, A. W. Jaxtheimer, Charles W. Kuhne, LeRoy Hartzler, William Blondit, W. S. Bostick, D. H. Caldwell, William Urbahns, Theodore Seemeyer, Harry Pickard, Frank Ross, J. S. Evans, Ed. Noll, H. A. Vogel, August Detzer, Sim Mahurin, H. J. Meyer, jr., Frank Stone, Herman Siemon, R. J. Learmouth, jr., Frank Bissel, Louis Ohnhouse, Frank Phillips and W. H. Shorey.

The guests were P. C. Darrow, of Indianapolis, editor and proprietor of the Wheelmen's Gazette, the leading illustrated cycling monthly of the United States, and Messrs. W. P. Cooper, Gart Shober, Henry J. Fisher and A. J. Moynihan, of the city press. Letters of regret were read from Mr. Frank M. Leonard, of the Gazette, and Mr. W. D. Page, of the News.

THE KAISER'S GIFT.

The Late Emperor Left Thirty Marks to Every Invalid Soldier of the War of 1870.

BERLIN, April 10.—It is stated that the late emperor left the sum of 30 marks to every invalid soldier of the war of 1870.

Queen Victoria will arrive at Charlotte at the end of the week.

The emperor yesterday handed 40,000 marks from his private purse to Herr Achenbach, the head of the relief committee, who accompanied the empress to Posen to inquire into the distress of the floods. The money will be used for the relief of the sufferers.

A Well-Managed Railroad.

Probably the most economically managed railroad in the world is in Ross County, O. Its corporate name is the Cincinnati, Hocking Valley and Huntington Railroad. It is only ten miles in length, and was organized and built mainly by John Karshner, a wealthy farmer. When the road was built he sold the crops of his farms for one year and bought a locomotive, which he called the John Karshner. Then he built a combination passenger and baggage car, and his equipment was complete. He has been operating his road for two years. At first he employed a conductor and a freight agent, and followed the custom of larger roads. But being an active man, though over 70 years of age, he soon dispensed with all superfluous services, and now he combines within himself the entire list of railroad men, from owner and President to conductor and brakeman. His train goes twice a day from Adelphia to Kingston and return. It will stop on signal at any farm house or crossing for passengers or freight. Mr. Karshner goes on every train as conductor, brakeman, baggagemaster, mail and express agent, and even as news agent. He sells no tickets; has no runnning arrangements with other roads; has no running accounts for freight, passengers, or express; everything is cash. He does not require a book-keeper, nor even a clerk.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for no such combination exists in the Pharmacopea as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late THOS. H. POWERS, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover," in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an officinal form."

L. M. HINTON, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

TUESDAY, APIL 10, 1888.

THE Gazette can insure Colonel Robertson's nomination for governor by opposing it. The colonel can well afford to lose the Gazette and gain the whole state as Senator Harrison did.

THE Minnesota Farmers' alliance has adopted resolutions indorsing President Cleveland's tariff policy and demanding the repeal of customs taxation on raw material and the necessaries of life.

IN addition to the election of president, vice president and a full list of congressmen, twenty-six states elect governors while others choose many minor officers this year. It will be a year of hustling.

THE SENTINEL agitations are in a fair way to bear rich fruit. The gas company semi-officially announces its intention to reduce the price of gas, and cheap water must and will come with the May election.

THE State Normal School building, destroyed by fire at Terre Haute, yesterday, was uninsured and is, therefore, a total loss. Whoever had the business management of the institution is guilty of inexcusable neglect in not providing against fire losses.

THREE weeks ago the Gazette advocated Judge Gresham for the presidency and his chances were then bright, but from that fatal moment his popularity waned, and it is safe to predict to-day that he will not get a delegate from his own state. Such is the character of the Gazette's influence. For recent particulars call on Mr. Hilbrecht

THE city council will have for consideration to-night an ordinance outlining the requirements that natural gas companies will have to comply with in obtaining a franchise from the city. This is the plan advocated by THE SENTINEL and will tend more to stimulate activity in obtaining for the city natural gas than anything yet proposed.

THE statement of the Gazette that Hon. Hugh Dougherty anticipated being a candidate for auditor of state three weeks before Mr. Munson withdrew is wholly untrue and is manufactured by the "Republican-Democratic Combine" to cover up glaring inconsistencies. THE SENTINEL'S fair and honest position, however, still stands proof against criticism from whatever questionable quarter it comes.

MR. T. B. HEDEKIN is quoted as doubting whether the water works trustees have power to reduce the water rates or rentals under the city attorney's ruling. The trustees, however, have the undoubted right to change the rate schedule, but for the purpose of verification or justification, let them report to the council a schedule of reduced water rates and see how quickly it will be approved. This proposition admits of no evasion.

FILLIBUSTERING IN THE HOUSE.

The occasion of the dead-lock in the lower house of congress, is the attempt of the republicans, with a few democrats, to pass a bill to restore to the states the direct taxes levied during the war.

This direct tax was levied by congress in 1861 and was collected for only one year and only in part that year. It was a requisition on the states, but where these did not choose to act the federal authorities levied upon citizens of the state. The bill which Randall, and the republicans are forcing in the house proposes to return to the states what they paid, or what was collected in them by the federal power, and to forgive the sums unpaid.

The bill, in the event of its passage, would take out of the treasury some fifteen millions of dollars, and this is the reason some half hundred democrats stand up and fight against the enactment of the measure.

The direct tax repayment bill is regarded as an entering wedge for measures which will so deplete the treasury that the protectionists may cry out that no tax reductions can be safely made. The fifteen million direct tax bill is the instrument and the cotton tax repayment bill, which calls for sixty-nine millions, will follow, taking eighty-four millions out of the treasury, leaving it tolerably empty.

It is very well understood that this repayment of the direct tax is only the beginning. It will be followed, if it succeeds, immediately by an attempt, sure to be equally successful, to repay the cotton tax. That will take $60,000,000 more out of the treasury. There is not an argument for the repayment of the direct tax which does not hold equally for the repayment of the cotton tax.

The cotton tax was laid during the war. It was collected on raw cotton wherever found, and therefore in northern as well as southern states. Twenty-eight states would get $15,000,000 out of the treasury under the direct tax bill; twenty-five states would get $69,000,000 out of the treasury by the repayment of the cotton tax.

DANGEROUS FOOD ADULTERATION.

The Fraudulent Use of Alum and Lime in Cheap Baking Powders

If consumers prefer to buy an adulterated article of food because it can be had at a lower price, they undoubtedly have the right to do so, provided the adulterants are not of a character injurious to health. If such articles are not falsely sold as pure, and the customer is not deceived as to their real character, the transaction is not illegitimate.

But the great danger in the traffic in adulterated food arises from the deception that is practiced by manufacturers usually classing such goods as pure. This is almost invariably done when the adulterant is one that is injurious to health. For instance, manufacturers of alum and lime baking powders not only fail to inform the public of the real character of their goods, but carefully conceal the fact that they are made from these poisonous articles. Most of these manufacturers also claim that their articles are pure and wholesome, while some go still further and proclaim boldly that they are cream of tartar goods, or even the genuine Royal Baking Powder itself. No consumer will buy alum baking powders knowingly, for it is well understood that they are detrimental to health. The sale of lime and alum-baking powders as pure and wholesome articles is, therefore, criminal and it is satisfactory to notice that several persons engaged in such sale have already been brought to justice in the courts.

The official analysts have recently been active in the pursuit of these dishonest articles. The baking powders of several states have been carefully and critically examined. The officials are surprised at the large amount of lime and alum goods found. It is a suggestive fact that no baking powder except the Royal has been found without either lime or alum, and may contain both. Dr. Price's baking powder has been found to contain nearly 12 per cent. of lime; Cleveland's 11 per cent. of impurities; the phosphate powders over 12 per cent. of lime.

The chief service of lime is to add weight. It is true that lime, when subjected to heat, gives off a certain amount of carbonic acid gas, but a quick-lime is left—a caustic of most powerful nature. A small quantity of dry lime upon the tongue, or in the eye, produces painful effects; how much more serious must these effects be on the delicate membranes of the stomach, intestines and kidneys, more particularly of infants and children, and especially when the lime is taken into the system day after day, and with almost every meal. This is said by physicians to be one of the causes of indigestion, dyspepsia, and those painful diseases of the kidneys now so prevalent.

Adulteration with lime is quite as much to be dreaded as with alum, which has heretofore received the most emphatic condemnation from food analysts, physicians and chemists, for the reason that while alum may be partially dissolved by the heat of baking it is impossible to destroy or change the nature of the lime so that the entire amount in the baking powder passes, with all its injurious properties, into the stomach.

The large profits from the manufacture of lime and alum baking powders has placed many of them in the market. They are to be found in the stock of almost every retail dealer, and are urged upon customers calling for baking powders upon all occasions. Because of their well known detrimetnal character it is desirable that prompt means be taken to suppress their manufacture.

Pure baking powders are one of the chief aids to the cook in preparing perfect and wholesome food. While those are to be obtained of well established reputation, like the Royal, of whose purity there has never been a question, it is proper to avoid all others.

Effie Ellsler Coming.

The present season is not likely to offer a more attractive bill than Effie Ellster in "Woman Against Woman" which is announced for Saturday evening. Miss Ellsler's success in this play is beyond all question, She has been seen in it in every large city in the land, and there seems to be not a dissenting opinion about the excellence of her work. "It is a relief at times," says the Chicago Tribune, "to see upon the stage a womanly woman acting in a play pulsing with the warmth of life. Such a woman is Effie Ellsler."

Sale of seats begins Thursday morning. No advance in prices.

What you need is a medicine which is pure, efficient, reliable. Such is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It possesses peculiar curative powers.

Simon Kelly leaves for Chicago tomorrow.

If you have a cold, cough, bronchitis, or any form of throat or lung disease, do not neglect it. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, if promptly taken, will speedily relieve and cure all ailments of this character.

The Nickel Plate company has put on six gravel trains between Bellevue and Chicago. Before the summer is over the track will be as good as any railroad in the country.

A Luxury and Necessity

For rich and poor who wish to enjoy good health, and who do not wish to resort to bitter nauseous liver medicines and cathartics, is the concentrated California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. 50c. and $1 bottles for sale by Thieme & Gross.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. WANTED—A LEADER.

The Condition of Affairs Which Exists in the Republican Party.

The Philadelphia Times has made a canvass of five of the great critical states of the campaign for the presidential preferences of their Republican voters.

The plight of that party, as revealed by the result, is pitiful. No two of the five states want the same man, and no one wants anybody in particular to any marked extent.

A careful survey of New York reveals the fact that out of a total of 1,120 outside townships canvassed only 484, less than half, are settled upon any one man, even that man, Chauncey M. Depew, is an impossibility; and the only other leader with any following is Mr. Blaine, who declines the empty honor. New York city is more pronounced. The corporation influence of Mr. Depew secures him 343 out of 806 precincts, the remainder being badly divided between Blaine, Sherman, Hiscock and Conkling. For second choice in the state Mr. Depew leads with 316, out of 1,112 townships canvassed, the remaining sentiment being divided. Sherman and Lincoln have each some following, but not enough to secure a delegation.

In Ohio Sherman nominally has the state, but on a second choice it is mixed in opinion between Lincoln, Foraker and Harrison. Out of 1,075 townships canvassed, only one man has the favor of as many as 253. That man, Foraker, is, of course, out of the question as a serious choice, unless the Republican party considers any sort of scarecrow good enough to hang a bloody shirt upon.

Indiana does seem to be reasonably decided in her views. Out of a total of 1,252 canvassed townships Harrison has 698, Sherman 302 and Gresham 105, with the remainder divided between Blaine, Lincoln and Depew. For second choice a small plurality of Hoosiers want Sherman, but he has only about 352 townships out of 1,475 in his favor.

Minnesota is badly mixed. Lincoln is the favorite in the proportion of 401 out of 962 canvassed precincts, Gresham has 211, Sherman, 171, and no other man more than 100. No second choice exists. Lincoln has 152 out of 600 townships, and Gresham only 122, while the Allison sentiment shows itself in 101 precincts. Sherman has no following as a second choice.

Pennsylvania has no settled preference. Blaine's withdrawal has left the subjects of the iron and coal trusts without any one ultra enough in his ideas to meet their demands. Reports were received by The Times from 1,266 wards and townships. Lincoln had 355, Sherman, 254; Hawley, 108; Depew, 57; Harrison, 55, and Gresham, 54. Neither Allison, Foraker, nor any other possibility, had a following to exceed 50.

To sum up, it will be seen that there is an utter absence of crystallized party sentiment. No strong voice rises spontaneously for any one man as the voice of the Republican party called upon Lincoln in 1864, and as that of the united Democracy calls upon Cleveland now. In no state does any single individual have even a majority of the ascertained preferences of the people in his favor.

The once great Republican party is begging for a leader.

It is true that but five states were canvassed by The Times, but they represent the pivotal points of the nation. One hundred and eleven electoral votes are involved. Sixty of these were Republican in 1884 and fifty-one were Democratic.

The Republicans, to elect their man in November, must make gains. That they cannot hope to do so is manifest? With the empire state at sea it is impossible to unite upon a nominee without a wrangle. The nearer its national convention approaches the more muddled things will become. * * *

The Democratic party has every reason to be satisfied with the situation, for it assures another term in which to make those needed reforms to which the Democracy is pledged, and which even the Republicans of these five great states plainly want.—San Francisco Examiner.

It Is No Sinecure.

To those who bear in mind the small margin of chance there is for a Republican nomination to be followed by an election of the Republican nominee for president, the anxiety of any gentleman to be named by that party is hardly intelligible. A nomination even with defeat would, to be sure, be an honor, but it would also carry difficulties with it. The candidate's private fortune would be depleted. The rough and tumble character of American politics would expose his character to assaults which would pain him and his family, if they did not injure him. The responsibility for defeat would be placed on the nominee by many, even if it did not belong to him. The distinction is not an enviable one. Success itself would hardly compensate for the unpleasant incidents. It is barely supposable that men who are important enough to be considered as possible Republican candidates can be deceived even by their ambition or by their desires into much of a belief in Republican success.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Common to Most Republicans.

Ex-Senator Harrison, of Indiana, has been regarded by a good many Republicans as an available candidate for president in the coming contest, for the reason that he represents a doubtful state and because he has not as yet slain himself with Samson's deadly weapon. His recent speech to the Marquette club, at Chicago, shows, however, that he is tainted with the Bourbonism that seems to have seized upon pretty nearly all the western Republicans. Some kind and judicious friend should tell Mr. Harrison before he makes another speech that the war has been over for a matter of twenty-three years.—Philadelphia Times.

Agrees with the People.

Senator Cullom observes that while he would not refuse a nomination for the presidency he does not expect that anything of the sort will come to him. He is in thorough accord with the people of his state in this respect.—Chicago Herald.

But Now It Won't Do.

Gen. Sherman says he's certain of one thing—that Badeau didn't write the Grant letter to Badeau. This would be a very neat saying if Sherman hadn't told so many different tales about the burning of Columbia.—Atlanta Constitution.

His Belief Justified.

Senator Ingalls' belief in fatalism seems to be entirely justified by the fatality which makes it impossible for him to keep his mouth from running away with him.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Pity of It.

Senator Ingalls has found one man who has openly expressed admiration for him because of his brutal speech; and the pity of it is the man hails from Pennsylvania.—Philadelphia Record.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ, cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

CURES ALL HUMORS,

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short, all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-Joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "CONSUMPTION CURE," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, anti-bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

MUSTANG LINIMENT

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, used vigorously is death to Swinney, Wind Galls, Sore Backs.

THE LIME KILN CLUB.

Death of Col. Whyfore Johnson—A Thunder Clap to the Club—A Mistake.

The secretary announced an official communication from Vicksburg announcing the death of Col. Whyfore Johnson, an honorary member in good standing.

"While I has 'bin expectin' it fur some time," observed the president, "it nebbertheless comes wid a shock. De kurnell was an aiverage man. He'd steal a watermellyon in summer, but divide up his wood pile in winter. He'd giv up a lost wallet he had found, but cheat you blind in a mule trade. While he'd return yer borrowed wheelbarrer on de werry minit, it wouldn't do to lend him a dollar in cash. If he war' a leetle hard on his ole 'mule he war' the kindest master a dog eber had. I won't go so fur as to say dat Kurnell Johnson unfolded his black wings an' flew straight into heaven's gate, but we shall hang out de usual emblem of mournin' an' hope dat he war' giben a fa'r an' imparshul trial."

The secretary then read the following:

SELMA, Ala., Feb. 28, 1888.

To the President of the Lime Kiln Club, Detroit:

HONORED SIR—Two suspicious characters were arrested here today, who claim to have come from Detroit. From letters and effects found on their persons I am satisfied we have the parties who made the sixty-fourth attempt to destroy Paradise hall several nights ago. The following are a few of the articles found on their persons:

Part of the hair from the bust of Plato.
One eye from the bust of Cato.
The nose and ears from the bust of Nero.
The cheek from the bust of August Spies.
A two inch square auger bearing the name of De Soto on it, with a large number of mottoes and proverbs with the name of Paradise hall on them. Also a large leather pocketbook, with the name "Lime Kiln club, of Detroit," engraved on the back of it in pearl letters. This pocketbook contains:

Seventeen $1,000 bills, seventy-nine $500 bills, 218 $100 bills, 911 $50 bills; total, $123,950. This amount I have deposited in the Commercial Bank of Selma, Ala.

If you will come yourself, or send Pickles Smith and Giveadam Jones with a certificate bearing the great seal of the club, and identify these articles and money, they will be cheerfully turned over to you or them. Congratulating you and the Lime Kiln club on the arrest of these two vandals and return of the property,

I am yours very truly,
WILLIAM C. ROSSEKTT, C. M.

The letter was a thunderclap to the club, as according to a communication received last week from Brookiyn, one of the guilty wretches had been caught, made a confession and been strung up to a limb. It was evident that a great mistake had been made, and after a brief confab with Sir Isaac Walpole, the president said:

"We shall send a telegram to Selma to hold dese parties, as dar' kin be no doubt dey ar' de villains who robbed an' wrecked us. As fur de party who was lynched in Brooklyn, we ar' sorry dat sich a mistake was made, an' de club holds itself in readiness to contribute money 'nuff to buy him a tombstone—a cheap one. I reckon he was some pusson who nebber had $5 all at one time, an' a $10 gravestone will round him off in fust class shape.—Detroit Free Press.

Prisoner from Russian Casemates.

To a prisoner who had lived for years in the silence and solitude of a bomb proof casemate the noise and rush of the train, the unfamiliar sight of God's green world, and the faces and voices of friends who seemed to have been raised suddenly from the dead, were at first intensely exciting; but the excitement was soon followed by complete prostration. Early in the evening one of my comrades, without the least warning, suddenly became hysterical, and in less than ten minutes seven men in our car were either delirious or lying on the floor in a state of unconsciousness. Some of them raved and cried, some went from one long faint into another, and some lay motionless and breathless in a profound swoon until we almost gave them up for dead.

The surgeon who accompanied the convoy was summoned, stimulants were administered, water was dashed into the white, ghastly face, and everything was done that could be done to restore the sufferers to a normal condition; but all night the car was filled with moans and hysterical weeping, and the women of the party—particularly Anna Pavlovna Korba, who was stronger and more self possessed than any of the men—went from one fainting or hysterical patient to another with restoratives, stimulants, and soothing ministrations. When we arrived in Moscow nearly half of the party had to be carried out of the car in the arms of the guard, and our journey was temporarily suspended in order that they might receive medical treatment.—George Kennan in the Century.

Something That Bergh Stopped.

Jump back with me twenty years. You are a school boy. What is this coming round the corner? A butcher's cart. What is in it? Calves, sheep. The heads of the calves hang over the sides of the wagon. The swift revolving wheels, for butchers' boys drive quickly, hit, roll, plunge against the sorrowing head with continuity of torture. Look at the sheep. See their eyeballs distend, their necks swollen, their throats lacerated; hear them bleat, and hear the calves as they bellow!

Money in English Races.

The great London sporting men who make "books" on the English races do an immense business. They give large credits to responsible patrons and generally get paid promptly. One of them said recently that his outstanding accounts amounted to $1,500,000, but he was perfectly satisfied to have that amount owing him, as his "turnover" amounted to $250,000 a week. There are others on the English turf who do an equally large business.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Colorado "Poverty Dance."

The "poverty dance," in Nevada City, Colo., is thus described by a local paper: "Invitations printed on strawboard and inclosed in cheap yellow envelopes are circulated. Tickets for the ball are forty-six cents and supper nineteen cents. No gentleman is allowed to participate who has less than two patches on his clothes; the ladies are dressed in calico, and refreshments are served on wooden plates."—Chicago Herald.

All Want the Same Man.

They have a curious condition of political affairs in Milwaukee. All parties, Republican, Democratic and Labor, desire to nominate the same man, Mr. Edward P. Allis, for mayor. This is strange enough, but the more curious fact is that Mr. Allis, who might be elected unanimously, refuses to run at all.—Frank Leslie's

CONCERNING INGALLS.

A Few Straight Democratic Remarks by a Kansas Newspaper.

Perhaps when Senator Ingalls made his attack on the Democratic party and included Hancock and McClellan among the allies of the Confederacy, he knew exactly what he was doing. It depends upon whether he was playing for national influence or for strength with the Republican machine in Kansas. If he intended to rise higher in the estimation of the country he has blundered, for the best Republicans have unreservedly condemned the tone of the speaker. He has no prospect whatever now of a nomination which calls for a vote of the people.

If he had in view the party machine in Kansas, the worst sentences of the speech were the best. Standing on the senate floor in Washington he pulled exactly the strings which led by the shortest cut to the hearts of the Republican local leaders in his home state, and it seems that he made them dance exactly as he had culculated. He has made himself a hero with men who have pushed themselves forward by means of the superior energy of their hate and the more intense malice of their selfishness. The convention of Republican clubs at Topeka was so gleeful in its indorsement of the objectionable parts of the Ingalls speech that it had no memory for anything else. They could not see the vileness of a charge of treachery against the character of a noble hearted Union general, nor could they penetrate the disgusting low breeding of an abusive attack upon the personal attributes of the president of the United States, delivered in the senate chamber and for no reason connected with any subject the senate was discussing. No; these clamoring Republican state candidates saw only that he "had shot it into old Cleveland." That fired the embers of their burned out hearts. The antique blatherskites who made the very atmosphere muddy with speeches and resolutions at Topeka have no part in the peaceful prosperity which abides in all corners of the land in 1888. They still live in trouble. It is the food of their stomachs and the vesture of their hidebound bodies. No milk and honey for them. Disorder, enmities, slanders, dissensions and plunder are the intoxicants demanded by base appetites which contracted the habit thirty years ago. The prize fighter who shakes hands with his adversary shows unpardonable weakness in their estimation. Reconciliation is for those who are still obedient to the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount. These men never read that part of the Bible. They probably would advise their followers not to buy meat of a Democratic butcher, not to borrow money of a Democratic capitalist, not to bury a dead Democrat, and not to travel on a railroad which carries Democrats. A gay old carnival of relief was that convention.

Though Mr. Ingalls may have caught the rheumy fossils and may through them work into a re-election to the senate, he must not imagine that he has caught the people of Kansas. The state is growing, changing and broadening. The thousands of new settlers in towns and on farms bring a desire for continued peace and its accompanying rapid increase of wealth and comfort. They want capital for railroads, for banks, for credits. They want plenty of free movement in all sections of the country, that men and money can travel to the west. In their calculation it would be better that Kansas should have a reputation for generosity, cordiality and good manners, than for malice, party malice carried to the point of frenzy and unending abuse of Democrats. Neither Mr. Ingalls nor the gyrating old retired list at Topeka really represents Kansas.—Kansas City Times.

A Gauzy Scheme.

The "Blaine or busters" continue their attempt to discredit the sincerity of their idol. Their purpose to try and nominate the Maine statesman in spite of his deliberate and definitive withdrawal is becoming every day more apparent.

The Tribune, for example, records the election of delegates in Ohio under such heads as "Not for Sherman," "Smashing the Sherman Slate," at the same time giving prominence to letters reasserting that "Mr. Blaine's letter does not preclude his nomination, and if made unanimous he is too brave and noble to decline."

Another indication of this purpose is found in the fights that are fomented between supporters of other candidates. There is scarcely a Republican prominently named for the nomination against whom serious objections are not urged by the organs or adulators of Mr. Blaine. Their purpose evidently is to have the other candidates kill each other off, while the man from Maine is "out of the contest," and then bring him forward at the last moment as the only candidate on whom all can unite.

It is a game too easily seen through to deceive anybody. We adhere to the opinion expressed on the morning after the last election in this state—that "Mr. Blaine will not be renominated by the Republicans."—New York World.

Mothers and nurses may give Simmons' Liver Regulator to the children and to the most delicate home-bound invalid with the utmost confidence in its safety and efficacy. It saves no end of doctors' bills. Always keep it in the house, for it is a household remedy, and there are many ailments that the Regulator will cure. It is safe to take in any condition of the system. No fear from exposure after taking this medicine.

Catarrh, when chronic, becomes very offensive. It is impossible to be otherwise healthy, and, at the same time, afflicted with catarrh. This disagreeable disease, in its most obstinate and dangerous forms, can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

IT IS better to go through life like a sunbeam than to chill those around us with the frost of ill nature.

Incandescent Light.

The Jenney Electric Light and Power company are constructing and will soon have in operation an incandescent light system. The company will furnish light in business places without extra charge for wiring to all those who subscribe for the same before the 1st of May, 1888. The expense for electrical appliances, wiring, etc., amounts to nearly one-half a year's rental for the light. This liberal offer of furnishing all wiring free to those customers who subscribe before May 1, will hold good only until that time, after which free wiring will be discontinued. They Don't Own the Country.

Some ten years ago Lord Rosebery, a very bright young nobleman and now one of Mr. Gladstone's most trusted lieutenants, paid a visit to this country. After listening to the talk of American politicians, reading American newspapers and watching the course of public events for a few weeks, the shrewd young peer observed: "These Republicans, you know, seem to think they own the country." The general tone of Republican politicians and newspapers in regard to national affairs was never more pithily described. If any one should take them in earnest he would be forced to believe that they regard the Democrats very much in the light in which the people of Rome at the beginning of the Fifth century viewed Alaric and his Goths. They continually picture the party that includes more than half the people of the United States as bent upon the ruin of the country's industries, as devoted to the surrender of American interests to European manufacturers and as desiring the reduction of the earnings of American wage workers. The humor of this portrayal of the pet objects of the great Democratic party is heightened by the fact that it is, to a far greater degree than its rival, a party made up of wage workers. To accuse the Democratic party of a wish to lower wages is like charging the southern negroes with scheming to restore slavery. To assume that the Democrats are less patriotic than the Republicans is so absurd that the assumption has only to be stated in these naked terms to be repudiated by the very politicians and newspapers who originated the accusation by inference. In fact, the handful of denationalized Americans who have lost faith in the institutions of their own country and who actually pass their lives abroad, educate their children there or at least in their hearts prefer the systems of government in force in Europe, are Republicans to a man. But nobody is justified in accusing the Republican party, on their account, with a lack of patriotism as a whole.—Buffalo Courier.

But They Are Not Wise.

Senator Ingalls' late speech has been published in pamphlet form for circulation "as a Republican campaign document." If the Republican leaders are wise they will suppress it as quickly as they did Judge Lawrence's biography of Senator Sherman.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Discreet Silence.

B. F. Jones, chairman of the national Republican committee, persists in saying nothing about the possibility of Blaine's candidacy this year. In this respect he resembles other Republicans. Nobody is saying as much about the matter as Mr. Blaine has expected.—Chicago Herald.

Small Hopes Now.

This is a bad year for Blaine stock. The shutting down of the Small Hopes mine means the closing out of Blaine stock, which a year ago was worth $100,000 and which produced a revenue of $30,000 or $40,000 for the Maine statesman.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Proper Question.

If Bob Lincoln and Fred Grant cannot be elected on the mere ground that their fathers were great and good men, what is to become of Ben Harrison, who only has a grandfather to go on?—Louisville Courier-Journal

Discord in the Air.

The voice of the Blaine banquet is still heard in the land and it is very harsh discord to the owner of the Sherman boom.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Let Him Think So.

Young Mr. Lincoln announces that he is out of politics, and he evidently believes that the announcement is important.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Woods Are Full of Them.

A stone thrown at random in almost any part of Illinois at present would be sure to hit a candidate for governor.—Chicago News.

Sound Advice From a Republican.

It would be well if the negroes in the south should join the Democratic party.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Too Modest Altogether.

Senator Ingalls is entirely too modest in acknowledging the authorship of his prophetic letter about President Cleveland. It is a letter which no political prophet should wish to have burned.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Must Be Sanguine of Something.

The Republicans are quite sanguine of their ability to carry Maryland this year. They entertained the same hope last year, but it proved a delusion.—Boston Herald.

Well, We Should Say Not.

Mr. Blaine must not take his nomination for granted.—New York Herald.

Lost.—"I don't know where, I can't tell when, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

Found.—"Health and strength, pure blood, an appetite like that of a wolf, regular digestion, all by taking that popular and peculiar medicine, Hood's Sarsaparilla. I want everybody to try it this season." It is sold by all druggists. One hundred doses one dollar.

Syrup of Figs.

Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal., is Nature's own true laxative. This pleasant California liquid fruit remedy may be had of Theime and Gross, druggists, large bottles at fifty cents or one dollar. It is the most pleasant, prompt, and effective remedy known to cleanse the system; to act on the Liver, Kidneys, and bowels gently yet thoroughly; to dispel Headaches, Colds and Fevers; to cure Constipation, Indigestion, and kindred ills.

For Vice President,
John James Ingalls,

Platform—Gore.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Chandler Has Subsided.

Senator William E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, is about the quietest man in Washington of late weeks. Mr. Chandler's effort at leadership was almost too vehement to be enduring. Exactly who sat upon it is not made public; but the fact that some one squelched it out is patent to the most superficial observer.—Boston Herald.

Deep Enough Already.

Senator Vest expresses the opinion that Senator Ingalls is in a deep enough hole already, and that there is no occasion for any effort on his part to make it deeper. He is eminently correct. The Missouri senator can well afford that the two speeches shall go before the country as they stand.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Getting Tired of It.

It looks as though the Republicans of Ohio were dead in love with Senator Sherman. They have had a tremendous flirtation with him, but now that the time has come when they must propose or back out they are in a terrible state of mind. And so is the senate.—New York Herald.

Martyrs to Headache

Seek relief in vain, until they begin to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Then they regret the years of suffering they might have escaped had they tried this remedy earlier. The trouble was constitutional not local; and, until Ayer's Sarsaparilla did its effective work as an Alterative and Blood Purifier, they were compelled to suffer.

The wife of Samuel Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass., was, for a long time, subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. A perfect cure has been effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frank Roberts, 727 Washington st., Boston, says that he formerly had terrible headaches, and until he took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, never found any medicine that would give Permanent Relief.

"Every Spring, for years," writes Lizzie W. DeVeau, 262 Fifteenth st., Brooklyn, N. Y., "I have had intolerable headaches. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla last March, and have not had a headache since that time."

"I suffered from headache, indigestion, and debility, and was hardly able to drag myself about the house," writes Mrs. M. M. Lewis, of A st., Lowell, Mass. "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has worked a marvelous change in my case. I now feel strong and well as ever."

Jonas Garman, Esq., of Lykins, Pa., writes: "For years I have suffered dreadfully, every Spring, from headache, caused by impurity of the blood and biliousness. It seemed for days and weeks that my head would split open. Nothing relieved me till I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has cured me completely."

When Mrs. Genevra Belanger, of 24 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass., began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she had suffered for some years from a serious affection of the kidneys. Every Spring, also, she was afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. A friend persuaded her to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which benefited her wonderfully. Her health is now perfect. Martyrs to headache should try Yesterday two men came here from Nevada, Ohio, to identify the unknown tramp recently buried at Lindenwood. Coroner Stellhorn had the remains exhumed, but they were not identified by the visitors who were in search of a brother.

At the council meeting to-night the most important matter to be presented is the introduction of a general natural gas ordinance. This ordinance has been proposed, not in the interest of the city. It will provide how natural gas franchises must be obtained; will provide for regulating the price for gas, etc. Any company that desires to come in under this ordinance will then be at liberty to do so.

Mrs Sophie Lee, of 21 West Jefferson street, was tendered a very pleasant surprise party last evening, the occasion being the anniversary of her 32d birthday. The affair was arranged by her sisters Misses Minnie, Louisa and Mary, and their friends, and so quietly was it done that Miss Lee was taken completely by surprise. The first warning she had was when she was aroused from her sleep by the ringing of her door bell and over thirty guests invaded her pleasant home. The party was made to feel "at home," however, and at midnight a delicious repast was served. The occasion was an enjoyable one, and Mrs. Lee's friends wish her many returns of her birthday anniversary.

One more rehearsal of the grand chorus for the Y. M. C. A. concert will be held to-morrow evening, at the Masonic Temple, followed on Thursday and Friday evening by the concerts. There has never been better work done by a chorus, and Professor Heath has again demonstrated his ability to drill an unorganized body of singers into a chorus which responds to him as one voice, and produces music of the highest merit. Do not wait to be called upon by ticket sellers for these entertainments, but make your arrangements at once to attend, and invite your neighbors and friends to accompany you. The box office for the sale of reserved seats will open at the Temple, at 10 o'clock, Wednesday morning. Arrange to secure your seats at once.

Signed, Mrs. Blunt, Mrs. Fulton, Miss Goodman, committee.

DOWN AND OUT.

Water Works Trustees Meyer and Kunkle Resign for Business Reasons.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. J. F. Wm. Meyer resigned his position on the board of water works trustees, giving as a reason that his business affairs did not permit him to devote necessary time to the affairs of the water works department.

This morning, Mr. E. B. Kunkle, another member of the board of trustees resigned for similar business reasons, and as Mr. Hedekin's term expires next month, the voters will be called to elect three members of the board of water works trustees, as the declinations above are final and in good faith.

Now that the feeder canal is the property of the electric light company and forever out of the question, the campaign will be made on a plea for cheap water, and every candidate will be forced to define his position on this great public question.

The water works were built to supply the people with good water at its actual cost and the demand for such a construction of the law is now so strong that no man or party can ignore it.

The names of Supt. C D. Law, Mr. E. A. Hoffman, Mr. Louis Fox, Mr. Christ Wenninghoff, Mr. Louis Rastetter, Mr. Charles Pape, Mr. Fred Eckert, Mr. S. M. Foster were freely mentioned as suitable candidates for water works trustees to-day, although the gentlemen are of varying political beliefs.

The democratic city central committee will be called to meet this week and arrange for the nomination of water works trustees, as well as candidates for the council in all the wards.

BUSINESS MEN.

They Meet and Pay Their Respects to the Dying Toll Roads.

The regular monthly meeting of the Business Men's exchange occurred last night and was called to order by Vice-president Seavey, with Mr. J. B. Monning as secretary. The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted, as was also the following resolution:

Whereas, The charters of at least one, and probably two of the present toll roads in this county have expired, they having been constructed under the statute providing that they should become free after the expiration of said charter.

Therefore, Be it resolved that the county commissioners be requested to take immediate and proper steps, to cause the toll gates on said roads to be removed, and that the following named members of this exchange be appointed a committee to present this resolution to the commissioners of the county, and urge prompt action on this question: D. N. Foster, Alex Lauferty, Fred Beach, J. F. W. Meyer, John B. Monning, committee.

The room committee, consisting of Messrs. Eckart, Winch and Schlatter were then authorized to look for rooms more centrally located than the present exchange headquarters. The exchange is stronger than it ever was.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

Rainy Days are Not Picnics for Reporters, by any Means, and This Column Proves It To-day.

Most of the passenger trains were on good time this morning.

The freight business on the railroads has been good this week.

The rainy weather made news very dull around the railroads this mornidg.

The furnaces in the blacksmith department of the Bass works are being repaired.

Work is picking up rapidly in many of the manufacturning establishments of this city.

Pittsburg engine, No. 70, was disabled last night and is now in the shops for repairs.

Frank Mannix has accepted a position with the Nickel Plate in the machine shop at Conneaut, O.

Charley Taylor, machinist at the Bass works, is detained from duty on account of the sickness of his wife.

D. L. Smith, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania company at this place, is at Denver, Col.

James Housh, the Pittsburg brakeman who had his hand mashed while coupling cars, is getting along nicely.

The moulding rooms of the Bass foundry were running at full blast this morning and all the employes were at work.

Superintendent of Motive Power John Mackenzie, of the Nickel Plate, arrived in the city on No. 3, this afternoon, on a tour of inspection.

John McKean, a machinist in the Bass foundry, has returned from Chicago, where he has been for several days on business for the works.

Engineer James Hartigan, of the Nickel Plate, who has been in ill health all winter, has fully recovered and is again handling his iron steed.

Rhinesmith & Simonson will receive several new planing machines this week, which will be placed in their mills. These machines are the largest in the city, and will give the mills the required capacity to meet the work.

Frank L. Wilson, a clerk in the Boston and Providence freight office at Boston, has confessed to embezzlements of the company's funds. His stealings may reach $10,000.

C. C. Mordough, of Indianapolis, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, was the guest of Mr. John E. Ross, the ticket agent of the Pennsylvania, last evening.

Frank M. Caldwell, formerly district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania at this place, but now traveling passenger agent of the Erie, with headquarters at Indianapolis, was in the city to-day.

Messrs. Groff, Edwards and Menaugh, department foremen in the railroad shops of the Pennsylvania company at Wellsville, O., are in the city. They were visitors at the Fort Wayne shops this morning.

General freight agents are much encouraged over the improvement in business the last three days, and the largely increased inquiry for cars indicates that traffic the present week is to be much heavier than for some weeks past.

The interstate law went into effect on April 6, 1887, but rates in many cases were not advanced for ten days, as it may be assumed that for another week the roads which carry eastbound business will make unfavorable earning comparisons with last year.

The officials of the C. B. and Q. road, Saturday, notified General Manager Henderson, of the Ohio, Indiana and Western, the "Q's" principal connection in this territory, that all passenger trains would be put on to-day, and run on the same schedule as prior to the strike.

The Pennsylvania Company and the Vandalia expect this week, to renew their contract with the United States postal department for five years for the fast mail service between New York and St Louis. The last few weeks the service has been quite satisfactory to the government.

NOT SO BAD.

The Electric Light Works Force will Not be Reduced.

Mr. R. T. McDonald, the genera manager of the Jenney electric light works, was seen at the Wayne hotel last evening and said:

"We have arranged to build and operate a branch factory at Plymouth, but will not reduce our force of workmen in the Fort Wapne shops, or suspend a single man. On the other hand we will enlarge and add new buildings to our Fort Wayne works this year and continue to make this the home of the Fort Wayne Jenney Electric Light Company."

The company operates a branch factory at Boston and can afford to tickle Plymouth for $170,000.

The Building Boom.

Glutting & Bauer have been given a permit to build a frame building on lot 97, old plat, to cost $600.

David Cramer, to build a two story frame house on lot 196, Hamilton's 4th addition, to cost $1,000.

Magdalina Balls to build two, two story brick buildings on lot 6, Rockhill's addition, to cost $1,600.

Jacob Pfleiderer to build a two story frame house on lots 11 and 12, White's 3rd addition, to cost $900.

Fred Limecooly to build a two story frame house on lot 139, LaSelle's addition, to cost $700.

Notice to Tax Payers.

I will be in my office every night from 7 o'clock until 8:30 o'clock, from Monday the 19th March to April 16th.

17tf City Treasurer.

TELEGRAPH TALK.

It was awful dull around the depots this morning when our reporter reached them in the course of his regular morning tramp. The quietness of a funeral seemed to reign over everybody and everything, and ticket agents and baggage masters were as dumb, or as speechless, at any rate, as clams. Our reporter pumped them, but the pumping process was in vain and nary an item could he get from their sealed and silent lips.

The news had evidently taken wings and flown away, or the fellows around the depot were determined to hide it from the eagle eyes of our news hunter John E. Ross and George P. Gordon, at the Pittsburg, knew nothing and Ora Ross was equally ignorant. At the Wabash, Baggagemaster Brooks said he hadn't seen anything that looked like an item, and an inquiry at the ticket office of J. M. McConnell and Robert Douglass left our stroller in a worse plight, for he had nearly exhausted all the hopes of his salvation from an absolute news panic, but it is a very cold day when a newspaper man gets left altogether.

Our young man spied O. L. Perry at his desk in the Western Union telegraph office and to him he flew in his distress, but horrors! Perry didn't know anything either. Determined to pump him for all the pumping process was worth our youth broached the subject of politics, bicycling, removing the telegraph office down street again, but they all failed to move the monopolistic manager until the remark came:

"A telegraph office, it seems to me, ought to be a very interesting place, and I suppose there are some queer mistakes and strange uses in which dots and dashes have some times figured?"

The question seemed to act like a charm, and our news hunter, rewarded at last for his persistency, dropped in a chair as he listened to the pleasant manager's reply:

"It is wonderful," said he, "how much imperfect knowledge and misconception there is in regard to this subject. One day during the time I was an operator a lady apologized to me for faults, &c., in a telegram she had sent, from another city to my office, offering the excuse that it was the first time that she had ever sent one. I assured her, of course, that there was no occasion to apologise, since the original document did not, of course come into my hands. On another occasion an old lady came into the office and handed me a telegram duly addressed. I immediately began to open it. 'What are you about?' she exclaimed in surprise. I explained to her as politely as I knew how that it would be impossible to send the message without first seeing it. 'Then,' she replied, giving me a piercing look, 'hand it back to me. Do you suppose I'm going to let you read my private affairs? I'd sooner not send it at all.' And she left the office in high dudgeon.

"While there are comparatively few people so ignorant of the workings of the telegraph as the two ladies I told you about, yet occasionally quite amusing ignorance is displayed by people one should think would know better. Serious blunders take place occasionally, also, from the imperfect writing of the receiving operators. You have, of course, heard the story of the famous doctor who was sent on a fruitless journey by receiving a telegram worded: 'Don't come too late.' As originally handed into the telegraph office the message read: 'Don't come, too late;' but in the transmission the signal denoting the comma was omitted, and hence the great inconvenience the recipient was put to.

"Not a few marriages have taken place between telegraphists, the courtship having been carried on through the medium of the wires. Nor need you wonder that Hymen sometimes plays a part when I tell you that a certain love code exists, known only to the parties most interested.

"On one occasion I also knew it to be used for a very different thing from making love.

One night about two o'clock I was suddenly awakened in the room at my boarding house by hearing a faint ticking which sounded not very unlike a telegraph instrument, only it was more indistinct.

"In an instant, from the force of habit I was wide awake, although it took me at least half a minute before I realised that I was not in my office and had been called over the wire. I listened and the ticking began again. 'Come up; all right,' is what I heard. I pinched myself to make sure I was not dreaming, but I again heard the ticking. 'Come,' is what it said this time. I jumped out of bed, and, seising my revolver, started toward the door. As I did so I heard some one rapidly running down the stairs. I opened the doors and ran down the steps, and reached the sitting room just in time to see some one jump through the window and run. From the echo of the rapidly retreating footsteps I could tell that there were two pairs of legs. Burglars had pried open the window and got into the house. One of them had evidently come up stairs and given his companion on the second floor the telepraphic signal to 'come up,' which meant that the coast was clear, and that all the occupants of the house were asleep."

The Diamond King.

Dr. White Cloud was cheered by a large and pleasing audience last night at the Princess rink when he announced that he had concluded to grant the request of hundreds of friends who asked the doctor to remain another week and give his free entertainments and sell his great Warm Spring Indian remedies, which have caused great good in Fort Wayne. Give the doctor another call to-night.

Y. M. C. A. Concerts.

The managers of the grand Y. M. C. A. concerts have made every effort to provide entertainments which will please our people. The program for the two nights are printed in this issue. Read them over carefully, and consider the object for which the concerts are given. There has been erected a grand Y. M. C. A. building in a convenient location, which is now practically finished, except furnishing. To provide this a large amount will be needed, part of which has been raised, but not nearly enough. The railroad department rooms, which have been productive of so great benefit, and which made the organization of a Young Men's Christian Association here a possibility, is in need of funds to expand their work and cover the expense of improvements made. We need $1,500.00, and if our people respond liberally each night of the entertainment, the amount will be secured. Let the crowds be so great that the card, "standing room only" will be hung out at the Temple.

Reserved seats for first night of the Y. M. C. A. concerts can be had at Masonic Temple box office Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Secure your seats early. Seats for Friday evening, second night, can be secured Thursday morning at same hour.

Tickets are now on sale at Klinkenberg and Detzer's for the chorus concert at the Temple on the 12th and 13th. General admission 50 cents; reserved seats 25 cents extra, to be paid at the box office. 6-5t

VOICES OF INDIAN GHOST

Legend of Lake Whatcom—Strange Sounds on the Lonely Water.

[Portland Oregonian.]

Lake Whatcom is certainly one of the most beautiful sheets of water in North America. It lies three and one-half miles east of Bellingham Bay, and almost surrounded by mountains averaging from 2,000 to 3,500 feet in height. It winds among the hills with a wild, picturesque grace truly grand. The streams issue from small but fertile valleys. Upon its borders, in the last four years, settlers have located, and the daily sound of the ax, mingled with the mellow tones of the cow bells, promises to awaken it from its dreamy sleep of ages. The lake is eleven miles in length, and its general course is north and south. It is about a mile in width, and resembles a half-extended arm, with two long, narrow inlets at the southern end like a thumb and forefinger, one pointing east and the other south.

Reveille Island rises out of the blue waters of the lake like a green-capped tower. The summit of the island is about one hundred and fifty feet above the level of the lake, and the shape of the island is almost that of an egg. The north and west sides have a gradual slope to the summit and the east and southern sides are steep and precipitous. It is covered with a heavy growth of fir and cedar timber and the rocks are of a sand formation. They contain palm leaf, sycamore, and fern leaf fossils, thus affording an interesting spot for geological investigation.

There is a story told of a dark and bloody tragedy that took place upon its shores. It is said that in the early days, before the coming of white men, a band of northern Indians invaded Bellingham Bay, and, after most of the native Indians were killed, the few remaining fled to the lake for safety; but, being closely pursued, took refuge on the island, and, finding escape impossible, they resolved to seek death in the cold waters rather than be taken by their cruel foe, and, while chanting their death song, they proceeded to a reef at the north end, and springing into the lake were drowned, thus escaping by death the tortures of their exultant enemy.

Since then it is said that strange sounds can be heard on a still night resembling the chant of an Indian warrior. The story was first told by an old trapper, who, on returning late one moonlight night from his traps to his camp on Swan Creek, and while passing the island, was startled by a strange noise. He ceased paddling and listened. As he paused there slowly rose from a deep canyon on the opposite side of the lake a murmur like the distant whisper of the sea, made by the waters breaking in soft music upon a pebbly shore becoming louder and louder until it deepened into a weird-like chant, and slowly coming across the lake, as if wafted by the wind to the north side of the island, which on reaching it continued up to the summit; pausing, there a moment, as if recovering its course, it slowly descended to the reef on the south side and was lost beneath the deep waters. As it died away a slight breeze sprung up and ruffled the smooth surface of the lake, and the moon shone with redoubled splendor, making the waters glisten and glimmer.

Different parties of pleasure-seekers ve since heard the same strange unds, each one having different opin- as to its cause. Some say it is the e of a cataract across the lake; others think it is caused by the sighing of the wind in the trees, and others contend that it is the death-chant of an Indian warrior on his journey to the land of the Great Spirit. Whatever may be its cause the mystery still remains unsolved.

ROSCOE CONKLING.

Bulletin Telegraphic Reports Sent Each Hour of the Condition of the Ex-Senator.

NEW YORK, April 10.—At 9:30 this morning Dr. Fordyce Barker said Mr. Conkling's condition was much improved and that the operation that had been performed seemed to have accomplished all that was expected. His temperature had fallen to 99 and his pulse to 90. He slept three hours during the night.

At 11 o'clock the senator was reported as not being so well as in the early morning hours, he being conscious only at intervals of short duration. The effect of the operation is beginning to show itself in the way of causing a heavy strain upon his system.

Frederick Conkling said at noon that the senator was very low and he feared there was no hope of his recovery.

At 2:35 p. m. Dr. Barker came from the room where he had been since 2 o'clock. He said his patient's condition was about the same. A reporter asked the doctor if he thought the senator would live, and he replied that Mr. Conkling's condition was very critical, but while there was life there was hope.

This afternoon Mrs. Fred Grant and Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant called at Mrs. Conkling's and left flowers, as an expression of their sympathy and their hopes of a speedy recovery.

INCREASING NUMBERS.

The Amalgamated Iron and Steel Workers' Surprise to Manufacturers.

PITTSBURG, April 10.—The Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel workers is growing in numbers and at the next meeting of the national convention between thirty and forty new lodges will be represented. Heretofore none but skilled workmen were eligible to membership, but after the last convention it was decided to admit others. This fact has been kept a secret, the idea being to increase the strength of the organization without the knowledge of the manufacturers or others. This morning it was learned that at the meeting of the advisory board it was decided to take everybody in employed around the rolling mill, except common laborers.

T. V. POWDERLY

Sends a Letter to the Knights on the Eight Hour Question.

NEW YORK, April 10.—General Master Workman Powderly has written a letter to the Knights of Labor throughout the country in regard to the hours of labor. He advises the knights to discuss the eight hour plan judiciously with their employers.

He says that an immediate change cannot be insisted on, but that a practical plan should be perfected. He says: "Workingmen, and common people, generally are rulers in our cities and towns and they should at once begin to make their power felt in the matter of shortening the hours of labor."

CONGRESS.

The Dead Lock Continues and the House Only Stops to Adopt a Bridge Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The house continued its dead lock, only stopping to adopt a conference report upon the bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river at Memphis.

The president to-day sent to the senate the following nominations: Henry B. Lovering, of Massachusetts, marshal of the United States for the district of Massachusetts; Claude M. Johnson, of Kentucky, Indian agency in Arizona; Lieut. Col. Cyrus B. Comstock, to be colonel major; J. A. Smith to be lieutenant colonel.

Fear Lynched.

KANSAS CITY, April 10.—A special from Woodward, Ind. T., says that forty farmers from Ashland and other Kansas towns went into No-Man's land last week and strung up four horse thieves. They now have nine more of them barricaded in the Cherokee strip, just east of No-Man's land, and intend to swing them if they get them.

The Metropolitan Bankers.

CINCINNATI, April 10.—The case of DeCamp and Means of the Metropolitan National Bank, was set for trial in the United States court to-day, but owing to the illness of Mr. Means and the absence of Judge Jackson it goes over until May, and, possibly, to June.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—Indiana: Colder, fair weather, proceeded in eastern portion by rain.

CHIEF ARTHUR.

Returns to Chicago and it is Thought the Burlington Strike Will Assume a New Phase.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Chief Arthur has returned to the headquarters of the striking Burlington engineers and firemen. He arrived this morning from Cleveland and went at once into conference with Chief Sargent and Chairman Hogg. It is generally assumed, that with his presence, the strike on the Burlington would enter upon a new phase.

Six weeks ago yesterday the great Burlington strike began, and at a cost of fully $2,000,000 to both sides, to say nothing of the cost to the public, has been unceasingly carried on. Both sides expressed themselves confidently. It was stated at the engineers' headquarters that seventy-five employes at the general offices of the company had been discharged, as had also 50 per cent. of the operatives in the Keokuk shops. Speaking for the company, Paul Morton said, regarding the discharges: "It is true we are curtailing expenses wherever we see an opportunity to do so, but there has been no such wholesale slaughter as you speak of.

COLONEL ROBERTSON.

Republicans Refuse to Force Him Into the Race for Lieutenant Governor.

The Indianapolis News says:

It is the opinion of some lawyers that the constitution very clearly provides that an unexpired term for lieutenant governorship may be filled by appointment, not by election. If this be the correct interpretation, the Indiana republicans may conclude that the only thing for them to do is to nominate R. S. Robertson for lieutenant governor. If he is already the lieutenant governor it will not impair his title to the office to be elected again. If he is elected to some other office before the expiration of four years from the day of his election, it will be accepted as a confession that he has not been the lieutenant-governor and the party will lose whatever of prestige may have been gained by its course in maintaining that Robertson and not Green Smith was president of the last senate. Whether this is only a subterfuge of the party to force Colonel Robertson to accept the lieutenant-governorship again is in some doubt. There are republicans who are opposing his nomination to the governorship, to which he aspires. It is claimed that he can not procure the support of his own congressional district for governor, but that for lieutenant governor it would be solid for him. Allen county would of course support him for either office. Speaker Sayre, of the last house, is supposed to be willing to have lightning strike him. He believes Governor Porter should consent to run for governor again, but he is for the nominee. He says that if Robertson should decline the lieutenant governorship, he (Sayre) would accept the nomination to that office, if proffered.

AH! THERE!

The Whitley County Republicans Sunk the Gazette.

The republicans of Whitley county met in mass convention, at Columbia City, Saturday last, and selected delegates to the several conventions to be hereafter held. The convention indorsed General Harrison for president, snubbing Judge Gresham, the Gazette's candidate.

"Lagrange and Wabash counties have done likewise," said a republican to-day, "so that the Gazette's party influence is laughing stock."

GEORGE LAIBLE.

He Gets Off Easy and Comes to Fort Wayne.

Yesterday at Logansport the case against George Laible, who forged the name of his brother-in-law to a note, came up for hearing.

The young man begged off, promised better behavior in the future, and at the request of the brother-in-law, he was let go. Mr. Laible returned to his home in this city last night.

Trot Him Out.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 10.—General Alfred H. Terry, who is a citizen of this state, introduces a new factor in Connecticut politics. It is probable that he will be brought before the public for the republican nomination for governor.

LOCOMOTIVE SPARKS

Set Fire to a Saloon and The Entire Business Portion of a Florida Town is Destroyed.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April, 10.—Sparks from the railroad engines set fire to a saloon at Tavares, a small village 100 miles south of here, yesterday, and the entire building was quickly in flames. The fire spread rapidly and by noon every business block but two was in ashes and seven or eight cottages suffered the same fate. The town had no fire protection. Twenty firms are burned out. The loss is fully $180,000 and $10,000 will cover all the insurance there was.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., April 10.—The grist mill of C. H. Jones, of East Jamestown burned early this morning. Loss $15,000; insurance $10,000.

HAVANNA, April 10.—Advices from Matanzas state that the crisis of the cane fields and all the houses of the Dolores estate have been burned. The fire spread to three adjoining estates, the Dianana, the Andres and the Santona, destroying large quantities of cane and killing a large number of cattle.

LOCAL NEWS.

John J. Davis and Lucinda R. Seits, Henry Kruse and Caroline Loehrs have been licensed to wed.

Henry Heidenrich was arrested to-day on a warrant from Justice Ryan, for assaulting Alice Heidenrich.

A clerk for Beverforden, the druggist, was fined for selling liquor on Sunday by Esquire Ryan.

Judge McClellan, of Auburn, is in the city. The judge is a prominent democratic candidate for congress.

A Libel Verdict.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 10. In the libel suit of E. H. Lewis against News and Herald, the jury rendered a verdict at midnight of $10,000 damages in favor of the plaintiff.

A New Jury.

The following jurors were drawn for the April term of the circuit court to-day:

A. G. Friend, city.
James T. Hanna, city.
John W. Crawford, Perry township.
Geo. W. Linden, Jefferson township.
Alexander Boston, Springfield township.
Geo. G. Nuttle, Milan township.
John H. Barclay, Monroe township.
Jacob Suter, Lafayette township.
Hiram Porter, St. Joe township.
Eugene Parin, Perry township.
John A. Bowser, Lafayette township.
Henry Tonkle, Cedar Creek township.

POPULAR SCIENCE.

THE advisability of testing as foggy weather signals sudden flashes, such as those of gunpowder, has been suggested to the British lighthouse authorities by Lord Rayleigh and Prof. Stokes, who think the flashes might attract attention where an equal fixed light might escape notice.

SOME people doubt the poisonous effect of nutmeg, but several cases of nutmeg-poisoning have been noted in the British Medical Journal during the past summer. A whole nutmeg was taken in four of the cases, and five whole ones in the remaining case. In still another case, the use of half a nutmeg in a hot drink was nearly as fatal.

THE large birds, like the other large animals, are steadily going, and all may soon disappear from the earth. It is believed that the Lammergeyer, or Alpine vulture, has just become completely extinct in Switzerland, a solitary female specimen, which has dwelt on the Blotchhorn during the last twenty-five years, having at last fallen a victim to poison.

REFERRING to the British birds that swarm in South Africa in winter, Prof. Seebohm states that on the coast of Natal he must have seen hundreds of thousands of barn swallows, evidently collected to return to northern Europe. Swifts and other species were numerous. Many of these did not breed within 3,000 miles of those parts, and some not within 10,000.

CURIOUS effects are known to be often produced by colors on persons and animals. The sight of an obnoxious color may induce an attack of hysterics, nausea, or a headache, or it may cause a violent fit of ill temper. The offending color is sometimes blue, sometimes yellow, but oftener red or scarlet. Scientific attention is being directed to these phenomena.

THE French physician Fizeau calculated the velocity of light at 185,157 miles a second; Cornu, another Frenchman, calculated it at 185,420, and Michelson obtained 186,380 as the result of his calculations. Wheatstone, the English electrician, found that free electricity traveled 288,000 miles a second; Kirchoff concluded, from theoretical considerations, that an electrical current sent through a wire in which it meets no resistance has the velocity of 192,924 miles a second. The velocity of an electric current sent through iron wire is 62,100 miles a second; through copper wire, 111,780 miles.

HOW WHEAT LOOKS.

As Viewed Through the Specs of the Washington Statistician by the Returns.

WASHINGTON, April 10.—The April statistical returns to the department of agriculture relate to the condition of winter grain and of farm animals. The variable temperature of March seriously injured wheat in the central states of the west and some loss from winter killing appears even in Texas. On the Atlantic coast the winter injury was very slight.

The present appearance of the crop is quite unfavorable. As spring is late, and the present growth of late wheat comparatively small, the favorable spring weather might make material improvement.

The average of the present condition is 82 per cent—lower than in recent years, excepting only 1883 and 1885, when the averages were 80 and 76 per cent respectively.

The averages of states of principal production are: New York, 94; Pennsylvania, 90; Ohio, 68; Michigan, 78; Indiana, 75; Illinois, 74; Missouri, 83; Kansas, 97.

EXCEEDINGLY PLEASANT.

The Fourth Annual Banquet of the Fort Wayne Bicycle Club—The Toasts and Responses.

The Fort Wayne Bicycle Club is an organization of which the city can boast with pride as it is the largest in the state, with elegant meeting parlors and a membership embracing some of the brightest and first young men in the city.

It is needless to say that its annual banquets are anticipated with much pleasure and that invitations to its feasts are prized highly.

The Fourth annual banquet of the club, at the Wayne hotel last night, was an exception to the rule, for it surpassed in elegance, brilliancy and gayety, all former occasions.

When the wheelmen and their friends stepped into the great dining hall, the tables were pictures of epicurean art. Fragrant cut flowers mingled with rare tropical fruits to lend inviting enchantment to a scene that approached symposian perfection when the menu card was spread.

It is needless to describe the McKinnis viands or to extol the wines when they come from the hands of that prince of caterers, Mr. R. J. Devine, and the modern Epicurus, Mr. Fred Unger.

Such feasts are rare and it is needless to say that the wheelmen and their guests were equal to the occasion, with an army of genteel waiters at their service, in regulation dress, under command of Mr. F. H. Henson.

As the banquet approached the close, the toasts of the evening were read by the toast master, Mr. Carl P. Swain, in the order named.

The club must have been in its wheat vein when Mr. Swain was chosen, for indeed his merry, sparkling witticisms and pleasant sayings were gems of the evening. This is the "feast of reason!"

The responses, it must be said together, were of the happiest, brightest character, with enough pleasantry and word pictures to keep the company in the best humor and cheer.

After the regular program was exhausted, Mr. Gart Shober, of the Journal, Mr. W. P. Cooper, of the press at large, Mr. Perry DeHaven and others followed in very interesting speeches. After a toast to the Wayne hotel and its popular proprietor, Mr. Will McKinnis, the jolly party adjourned from an evening that will always be recalled with pleasure.

The following club members were present: C. J. McLain, C. W. Edgerton, T. F. Thieme, F. S. Lightfoot, Perry N. DeHaven, C. P. Swain, A. W. Jaxtheimer, Charles W. Kuhne, LeRoy Hartzler, William Blondit, W. S. Bostick, D. H. Caldwell, William Urbahns, Theodore Seemeyer, Harry Pickard, Frank Ross, J. S. Evans, Ed. Noll, H. A. Vogel, August Detzer, Sim Mahurin, H. J. Meyer, jr., Frank Stone, Herman Siemon, R. J. Learmouth, jr., Frank Bissel, Louis Ohnhouse, Frank Phillips and W. H. Shorey.

The guests were P. C. Darrow, of Indianapolis, editor and proprietor of the Wheelmen's Gazette, the leading illustrated cycling monthly of the United States, and Messrs. W. P. Cooper, Gart Shober, Henry J. Fisher and A. J. Moynihan, of the city press. Letters of regret were read from Mr. Frank M. Leonard, of the Gazette, and Mr. W. D. Page, of the News.

THE KAISER'S GIFT.

The Late Emperor Left Thirty Marks to Every Invalid Soldier of the War of 1870.

BERLIN, April 10.—It is stated that the late emperor left the sum of 30 marks to every invalid soldier of the war of 1870.

Queen Victoria will arrive at Charlotte at the end of the week.

The emperor yesterday handed 40,000 marks from his private purse to Herr Achenbach, the head of the relief committee, who accompanied the empress to Posen to inquire into the distress of the floods. The money will be used for the relief of the sufferers.

A Well-Managed Railroad.

Probably the most economically managed railroad in the world is in Ross County, O. Its corporate name is the Cincinnati, Hocking Valley and Huntington Railroad. It is only ten miles in length, and was organized and built mainly by John Karshner, a wealthy farmer. When the road was built he sold the crops of his farms for one year and bought a locomotive, which he called the John Karshner. Then he built a combination passenger and baggage car, and his equipment was complete. He has been operating his road for two years. At first he employed a conductor and a freight agent, and followed the custom of larger roads. But being an active man, though over 70 years of age, he soon dispensed with all superfluous services, and now he combines within himself the entire list of railroad men, from owner and President to conductor and brakeman. His train goes twice a day from Adelphia to Kingston and return. It will stop on signal at any farm house or crossing for passengers or freight. Mr. Karshner goes on every train as conductor, brakeman, baggagemaster, mail and express agent, and even as news agent. He sells no tickets; has no running arrangements with other roads; has no running accounts for freight, passengers, or express; everything is cash. He does not require a book-keeper, nor even a clerk.

A Boon

To mankind, said a member of the State Medical Society of Ga., at one of its meetings, "and the prescription ought to be given to the medical fraternity for the benefit of the Profession, for as such combination exists in the Pharmacopœa as that of Simmons Liver Regulator." The late Thos. H. Powers, of Philadelphia, America's greatest chemist, asserted "it was like the discovery of Dover, in his celebrated Dover's Powder, it could not be improved and it was wonderfully strange that the combination had never been made in an official form."

L. M. Hinton, M. D., Washington, Ark., says: "No other remedy within my knowledge can fill its place. I have been practicing medicine for twenty years, and have never been able to put up a vegetable compound that would, like Simmons Liver Regulator, promptly and effectively move the Liver to action and at the same time aid (instead of weakening) the digestive powers."

Symptoms such as bitter or bad taste in the mouth; pain in the back, often mistaken for Rheumatism; sour stomach; loss of appetite; bowels alternately costive and lax; headache; loss of memory, with a painful sensation of having failed to do something which ought to have been done; debility; low spirits; a thick yellow appearance of the skin and eyes; a dry cough often mistaken for Consumption, indicate Liver disease, and if not regulated in time great suffering, wretchedness and death will often ensue.

Daily Sentinel

SUBSCRIPTION, per week..... 10c

E. A. K. HACKETT, Editor and Proprietor.

TUESDAY, APIL 10, 1888.

The Gazette can insure Colonel Robertson's nomination for governor by opposing it. The colonel can well afford to lose the Gazette and gain the whole state as Senator Harrison did.

The Minnesota Farmers' alliance has adopted resolutions indorsing President Cleveland's tariff policy and demanding the repeal of customs taxation on raw material and the necessaries of life.

In addition to the election of president, vice president and a full list of congressmen, twenty-six states elect governors while others choose many minor officers this year. It will be a year of hustling.

The Sentinel agitations are in a fair way to bear rich fruit. The gas company semi-officially announces its intention to reduce the price of gas, and cheap water must and will come with the May election.

The State Normal School building, destroyed by fire at Terre Haute, yesterday, was uninsured and is, therefore, a total loss. Whoever had the business management of the institution is guilty of inexcusable neglect in not providing against fire losses.

Three weeks ago the Gazette advocated Judge Gresham for the presidency and his chances were then bright, but from that fatal moment his popularity waned, and it is safe to predict to-day that he will not get a delegate from his own state. Such is the character of the Gazette's influence. For recent particulars call on Mr. Hilbrecht.

The city council will have for consideration to-night an ordinance outlining the requirements that natural gas companies will have to comply with in obtaining a franchise from the city. This is the plan advocated by The Sentinel and will tend more to stimulate activity in obtaining for the city natural gas than anything yet proposed.

The statement of the Gazette that Hon. Hugh Dougherty anticipated being a candidate for auditor of state three weeks before Mr. Munson withdrew is wholly untrue and is manufactured by the "Republican-Democratic Combine" to cover up glaring inconsistencies. The Sentinel's fair and honest position, however, still stands proof against criticism from whatever questionable quarter it comes.

Mr. T. B. Hedekin is quoted as doubting whether the water works trustees have power to reduce the water rates or rentals under the city attorney's ruling. The trustees, however, have the undoubted right to change the rate schedule, but for the purpose of verification or justification, let them report to the council a schedule of reduced water rates and see how quickly it will be approved. This proposition admits of no evasion.

FILLIBUSTERING IN THE HOUSE.

The occasion of the dead-lock in the lower house of congress, is the attempt of the republicans, with a few democrats, to pass a bill to restore to the states the direct taxes levied during the war.

This direct tax was levied by congress in 1861 and was collected for only one year and only in part that year. It was a requisition on the states, but when these did not choose to act the federal authorities levied upon citizens of the state. The bill which Randall, and the republicans are forcing in the house proposes to return to the states what they paid, or what was collected in them by the federal power, and to forgive the sums unpaid.

The bill, in the event of its passage, would take out of the treasury some fifteen millions of dollars, and this is the reason some half hundred democrats stand up and fight against the enactment of the measure.

The direct tax repayment bill is regarded as an entering wedge for measures which will so deplete the treasury that the protectionists may cry out that no tax reductions can be safely made. The fifteen million direct tax bill is the instrument and the cotton tax repayment bill, which calls for sixty-nine millions, will follow, taking eighty-four millions out of the treasury, leaving it tolerably empty.

It is very well understood that this repayment of the direct tax is only the beginning. It will be followed, if it succeeds, immediately by an attempt, sure to be equally successful, to repay the cotton tax. That will take $60,000,000 more out of the treasury. There is not an argument for the repayment of the direct tax which does not hold equally for the repayment of the cotton tax.

The cotton tax was laid during the war. It was collected on raw cotton wherever found, and therefore in northern as well as southern states. Twenty-eight states would get $15,000,000 out of the treasury under the direct tax bill; twenty-five states would get $69,000,000 out of the treasury by the repayment of the cotton tax.

DANGEROUS FOOD ADULTERATION.

If consumers prefer to buy an adulterated article of food because it can be had at a lower price, they undoubtedly have the right to do so, provided the adulterants are not of a character injurious to health. If such articles are not falsely sold as pure, and the customer is not deceived as to their real character, the transaction is not illegitimate.

But the great danger in the traffic in adulterated food arises from the deception that is practiced by manufacturers usually classing such goods as pure. This is almost invariably done when the adulterant is one that is injurious to health. For instance, manufacturers of alum and lime baking powders not only fail to inform the public of the real character of their goods, but carefully conceal the fact that they are made from these poisonous articles. Most of these manufacturers also claim that their articles are pure and wholesome, while some go still further and proclaim boldly that they are cream of tartar goods, or even the genuine Royal Baking Powder itself. No consumer will buy alum baking powders knowingly, for it is well understood that they are detrimental to health. The sale of lime and alum baking powders as pure and wholesome articles is, therefore, criminal and it is satisfactory to notice that several persons engaged in such sale have already been brought to justice in the courts.

The official analysts have recently been active in the pursuit of these dishonest articles. The baking powders of several states have been carefully and critically examined. The officials are surprised at the large amount of lime and alum goods found. It is a suggestive fact that no baking powder except the Royal has been found without either lime or alum, and may contain both. Dr. Price's baking powder has been found to contain nearly 13 per cent. of lime; Cleveland's 11 per cent. of impurities; the phosphate powders over 12 per cent. of lime.

The chief service of lime is to add weight. It is true that lime, when subjected to heat, gives off a certain amount of carbonic acid gas, but a quick-lime is left—a caustic of most powerful nature. A small quantity of dry lime upon the tongue, or in the eye, produces painful effects; how much more serious must these effects be on the delicate membranes of the stomach, intestines and kidneys, more particularly of infants and children, and especially when the lime is taken into the system day after day, and with almost every meal. This is said by physicians to be one of the causes of indigestion, dyspepsia, and those painful diseases of the kidneys now so prevalent.

Adulteration with lime is quite as much to be dreaded as with alum, which has heretofore received the most emphatic condemnation from food analysts, physicians and chemists, for the reason that while alum may be partially dissolved by the heat of baking it is impossible to destroy or change the nature of the lime so that the entire amount in the baking powder passes, with all its injurious properties, into the stomach.

The large profits from the manufacture of lime and alum baking powders has placed many of them in the market. They are to be found in the stock of almost every retail dealer, and are urged upon customers calling for baking powders upon all occasions. Because of their well known detrimental character it is desirable that prompt means be taken to suppress their manufacture.

Pure baking powders are one of the chief aids to the cook in preparing perfect and wholesome food. While these are to be obtained of well established reputation, like the Royal, of whose purity there has never been a question, it is proper to avoid all others.

Effie Elisler Coming.

The present season is not likely to offer a more attractive bill than Effie Elisler in "Woman Against Woman" which is announced for Saturday evening. Miss Elisler's success in this play is beyond all question. She has been seen in it in every large city in the land, and there seems to be not a dissenting opinion about the excellence of her work. "It is a relief at times," says the Chicago Tribune, "to see upon the stage a womanly woman acting in a play pulsing with the warmth of life. Such a woman is Effie Elisler."

Sale of seats begins Thursday morning. No advance in prices.

What you need is a medicine which is pure, efficient, reliable. Such is Hood's Sarsaparilla. It possesses peculiar curative powers.

Simon Kelly leaves for Chicago tomorrow.

If you have a cold, cough, bronchitis, or any form of throat or lung disease, do not neglect it. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, if promptly taken, will speedily relieve and cure all ailments of this character.

The Nickel Plate company has put on six gravel trains between Bellevue and Chicago. Before the summer is over the track will be as good as any railroad in the country.

A Luxury and Necessity

For rich and poor who wish to enjoy good health, and who do not wish to resort to bitter nauseous liver medicines and cathartics, is the concentrated California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. 50c. and $1 bottles for sale by Thieme & Gross.

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels and is the best known remedy for diarrhœa, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. mar-17-1y

WANTED—A LEADER.

The Condition of Affairs Which Exists in the Republican Party.

The Philadelphia Times has made a canvass of five of the great critical states of the campaign for the presidential preferences of their Republican voters.

The plight of that party, as revealed by the result, is pitiful. No two of the five states want the same man, and no one wants anybody in particular to any marked extent.

A careful survey of New York reveals the fact that out of a total of 1,120 outside townships canvassed only 484, less than half, are settled upon any one man, even that man, Chauncey M. Depew, is an impossibility, and the only other leader with any following is Mr. Blaine, who declines the empty honor. New York city is more pronounced. The corporation influence of Mr. Depew secures him 843 out of 806 precincts, the remainder being badly divided between Blaine, Sherman, Hiscock and Conkling. For second choice in the state Mr. Depew leads with 316, out of 1,113 townships canvassed, the remaining sentiment being divided. Sherman and Lincoln have each some following, but not enough to secure a delegation.

In Ohio Sherman nominally has the state, but on a second choice it is mixed in opinion between Lincoln, Foraker and Harrison. Out of 1,076 townships canvassed, only one man has the favor of as many as 258. That man, Foraker, is, of course, out of the question as a serious choice, unless the Republican party considers any sort of scarecrow good enough to hang a bloody shirt upon.

Indiana does seem to be reasonably decided in her views. Out of a total of 1,252 canvassed townships Harrison has 606, Sherman 602 and Gresham 105, with the remainder divided between Blaine, Lincoln and Depew. For second choice a small plurality of Hoosiers want Sherman, but he has only about 352 townships out of 1,475 in his favor.

Minnesota is badly mixed. Lincoln is the favorite in the proportion of 401 out of 962 canvassed precincts, Gresham has 211, Sherman, 171, and no other man more than 100. No second choice exists. Lincoln has 152 out of 600 townships, and Gresham only 122, while the Allison sentiment shows itself in 101 precincts. Sherman has no following as a second choice.

Pennsylvania has no settled preferences. Blaine's withdrawal has left the subjects of the iron and coal trusts without any one ultra enough in his ideas to meet their demands. Reports were received by The Times from 1,223 wards and townships. Lincoln had 353, Sherman, 254; Hawley, 206; Depew, 57; Harrison, 55, and Gresham, 54. Neither Allison, Foraker, nor any other possibility, had a following to exceed 50.

To sum up, it will be seen that there is an utter absence of crystallized party sentiment. No strong voice rises spontaneously for any one man as the voice of the Republican party called upon Lincoln in 1864, and as that of the united Democracy calls upon Cleveland now. In no state does any single individual have even a majority of the ascertained preferences of the people in his favor.

The once great Republican party is begging for a leader.

It is true that but five states were canvassed by The Times, but they represent the pivotal points of the nation. One hundred and eleven electoral votes are involved. Sixty of these were Republican in 1884 and fifty-one were Democratic.

The Republicans, to elect their man in November, must make gains. That they cannot hope to do so is manifest. With the empire state at sea it is impossible to unite upon a nominee without a wrangle. The nearer its national convention approaches the more muddled things will become. * * *

The Democratic party has every reason to be satisfied with the situation, for it assures another term in which to make those needed reforms to which the Democracy is pledged, and which even the Republicans of these five great states plainly want.—San Francisco Examiner.

It Is No Sinecure.

To those who bear in mind the small margin of chance there is for a Republican nomination to be followed by an election of the Republican nominee for president, the anxiety of any "gentleman to be named by that party is hardly intelligible. A nomination even with defeat would, to be sure, be an honor, but it would also carry difficulties with it. The candidate's private fortune would be depleted. The rough and tumble character of American politics would expose his character to assaults which would pain him and his family, if they did not injure him. The responsibility for defeat would be placed on the nominee by many, even if it did not belong to him. The distinction is not an enviable one. Success itself would hardly compensate for the unpleasant incidents. It is barely supposable that men who are important enough to be considered as possible Republican candidates can be deceived even by their ambition or by their desires into much of a belief in Republican success.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Common to Most Republicans.

Ex-Senator Harrison, of Indiana, has been regarded by a good many Republicans as an available candidate for president in the coming contest, for the reason that he represents a doubtful state and because he has not as yet slain himself with Samson's deadly weapon. His recent speech to the Marquette club, at Chicago, shows, however, that he is tainted with the Bourbonism that seems to have seized upon pretty nearly all the western Republicans. Some kind and judicious friend should tell Mr. Harrison before he makes another speech that the war has been over for a matter of twenty-three years.—Philadelphia Times.

Agrees with the People.

Senator Cullom observes that while he would not refuse a nomination for the presidency he does not expect that anything of the sort will come to him. He is in thorough accord with the people of his state in this respect.—Chicago Herald.

But Now It Won't Do.

Gen. Sherman says he's certain of one thing—that Badeau didn't write the Grant letter to Badeau. This would be a very neat saying if Sherman hadn't told so many different tales about the burning of Columbia.—Atlanta Constitution.

His Belief Justified.

Senator Ingalls' belief in fatalism seems to be entirely justified by the fatality which makes it impossible for him to keep his mouth from running away with him.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

The Pity of It.

Senator Ingalls has found one man who has openly expressed admiration for him because of his brutal speech; and the pity of it is the man hails from Pennsylvania.—Philadelphia Record.

WHAT AILS YOU?

Do you feel dull, languid, low-spirited, lifeless, and indescribably miserable, both physically and mentally; experience a sense of fullness or bloating after eating, or of "goneness," or emptiness of stomach in the morning, tongue coated, bitter or bad taste in mouth, irregular appetite, dizziness, frequent headaches, blurred eyesight, "floating specks" before the eyes, nervous prostration or exhaustion, irritability of temper, hot flushes, alternating with chilly sensations, sharp, biting, transient pains here and there, cold feet, drowsiness after meals, wakefulness, or disturbed and unrefreshing sleep, constant, indescribable feeling of dread, or of impending calamity?

If you have all, or any considerable number of these symptoms, you are suffering from that most common of American maladies—Bilious Dyspepsia, or Torpid Liver, associated with Dyspepsia, or Indigestion. The more complicated your disease has become, the greater the number and diversity of symptoms. No matter what stage it has reached, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will subdue it, if taken according to directions for a reasonable length of time. If not cured, complications multiply and Consumption of the Lungs, Skin Diseases, Heart Disease, Rheumatism, Kidney Disease, or other grave maladies are quite liable to set in and, sooner or later, induce a fatal termination.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery acts powerfully upon the Liver, and through that great blood-purifying organ cleanses the system of all blood-taints and impurities, from whatever cause arising. It is equally efficacious in acting upon the Kidneys, and other excretory organs, cleansing, strengthening, and healing their diseases. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it promotes digestion and nutrition, thereby building up both flesh and strength. In malarial districts, this wonderful medicine has gained great celebrity in curing Fever and Ague, Chills and Fever, Dumb Ague, and kindred diseases.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

from a common Blotch, or Eruption, to the worst Scrofula. Salt-rheum, "Fever-sores," Scaly or Rough Skin, in short all diseases caused by bad blood are conquered by this powerful, purifying, and invigorating medicine. Great Eating Ulcers rapidly heal under its benign influence. Especially has it manifested its potency in curing Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Sore Eyes, Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, Hip-joint Disease, "White Swellings," Goitre, or Thick Neck, and Enlarged Glands. Send ten cents in stamps for a large Treatise, with colored plates, on Skin Diseases, or the same amount for a Treatise on Scrofulous Affections.

"FOR THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE."

Thoroughly cleanse it by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and good digestion, a fair skin, buoyant spirits, vital strength and bodily health will be established.

CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken in the earlier stages of the disease. From its marvelous power over this terribly fatal disease, when first offering this now world-famed remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too restrictive for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alterative, or blood-cleansing, and bilious, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequaled, not only as a remedy for Consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

For Weak Lungs, Spitting of Blood, Shortness of Breath, Chronic Nasal Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, Severe Coughs, and kindred affections, it is an efficient remedy.

Sold by Druggists, at $1.00, or Six Bottles for $5.00.

THE LIME KILN CLUB.

Death of Col. Whyfore Johnson—A Thunder Clap to the Club—A Mistake.

The secretary announced an official communication from Vicksburg announcing the death of Col. Whyfore Johnson, an honorary member in good standing.

"While I has 'bin expectin' it fur some time," observed the president, "it nebbertheless comes wid a shock. De kurnell was an aiverage man. He'd steal a watermellyon in summer, but divide up his wood pile in winter. He'd giv up a lost wallet he had found, but cheat you blind in a mule trade. While he'd return yer borrowed wheelbarrer on de werry minit, he wouldn't do to lend him a dollar in cash. If he war' a leetle hard on his ole 'mule he war' the kindest master a dog ever had. I won't go so fur as to say dat Kurnell Johnson unfolded his black wings an' flew straight into heaven's gate, but we shall hang out de usual emblem of mourniu' an' hope dat he war' given a fa'r an' impartshul trial."

The secretary then read the followings

SELMA, Ala., Feb. 26, 1888.

To the President of the Lime Kiln Club, Detroit:

HONORED SIR—Two suspicious characters were arrested here today, who claim to have come from Detroit. From letters and effects found on their persons I am satisfied we have the parties who made the sixty-fourth attempt to destroy Paradise hall several nights ago. The following are a few of the articles found on their persons:

Part of the hair from the bust of Plato.

One eye from the bust of Cato.

The nose and ears from the bust of Nero.

The cheek from the bust of August Spies.

A two inch square stone, bearing the name of De Soto on it, with a large number of mottoes and proverbs with the name of Paradise hall on them. Also a large leather pocketbook, with the name "Lime Kiln club, of Detroit," engraved on the back of it in pearl letters. This pocketbook contains:

Seventeen $1,000 bills, seventy-nine $500 bills, 326 $100 bills, 911 $20 bills; total, $123,320. This amount I have deposited in the Commercial Bank of Selma, Ala.

If you will come yourself, or send Pickles Smith and Givendam Jones with a certificate bearing the great seal of the club, and identify these articles and money, they will be cheerfully turned over to you or them. Congratulating you and the Lime Kiln club on the arrest of these two vandals and return of the property,

I am yours very truly,

WILLIAM C. ROBERTS, C. M.

The letter was a thunderclap to the club, as according to a communication received last week from Brooklyn, one of the guilty wretches had been caught, made a confession and been strung up to a limb. It was evident that a great mistake had been made, and after a brief confab with Sir Isaac Walpole, the president said:

"We shall send a telegram to Selma to hold dese parties, an' dar' kin be no doubt dey ar' de villains who robbed an' wrecked us. As fur de party who was lynched in Brooklyn, we ar' sorry dat dah a mistake was made, an' de club holds itself in readiness to contribute money 'nuff to buy him a tombstone—a cheap one. I reckon he was some poseon who nebber had $5 all at one time, an' a $10 gravestone will round him off in fust class shape.—Detroit Free Press.

Prisoner from Russian Convention.

To a prisoner who had, lived for years in the silence and solitude of a bomb proof exterminate the noise and rush of the train, the unfamiliar sight of God's green world, and the faces and voices of friends who seemed to have been raised suddenly from the dead, were at first intensely exciting; but the excitement was soon followed by complete prostration. Early in the evening one of my comrades, without the least warning, suddenly became hysterical, and in less than ten minutes seven men in our car were either delirious or lying on the floor in a state of unconsciousness. Some of them raved and cried, some went from one long faint into another, and some lay motionless and breathless in a profound swoon until we almost gave them up for dead.

The surgeon who accompanied the convoy was summoned, stimulants were administered, water was dashed into the white, ghastly face, and everything was done that could be done to restore the sufferers to a normal condition; but all night the car was filled with moans and hysterical weeping, and the women of the party—particularly Anna Pavlovna Korbe, who was stronger and more self possessed than any of the men—went from one fainting or hysterical patient to another with restoratives, stimulants, and soothing ministrations. When we arrived in Moscow nearly half of the party had to be carried out of the car in the arms of the guard, and our journey was temporarily suspended in order that they might receive medical treatment.—George Kennan in the Century.

Something That Bergh Stopped.

Jump back with me twenty years. You are a school boy. What is this coming round the corner? A butcher's cart. What is in it? Calves, sheep. The heads of the calves hang over the sides of the wagon. The swift revolving wheels, for butchers' boys drive quickly, hit, roll, plunge against the sorrowing head with continuity of torture. Look at the sheep. See their eyeballs distend, their necks swollen, their throats lacerated; hear them bleat, and hear the calves as they bellow!

Money in English Races.

The great London sporting men who make "books" on the English races do an immense business. They give large credits to responsible patrons and generally get paid promptly. One of them said recently that his outstanding accounts amounted to $1,500,000, but he was perfectly satisfied to have that amount owing him, as his "turnover" amounted to $250,000 a week. There are others on the English turf who do an equally large business.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Colorado "Poverty Dance."

The "poverty dance," in Nevada City, Colo., is thus described by a local paper: "Invitations printed on strawboard and inclosed in cheap yellow envelopes are circulated. Tickets for the ball are forty-six cents and supper nineteen cents. No gentleman is allowed to participate who has less than two patches on his clothes; the ladies are dressed in calico, and refreshments are served on wooden plates."—Chicago Herald.

All Want the Same Man.

They have a curious condition of political affairs in Milwaukee. All parties, Republican, Democratic and Labor, desire to nominate the same man, Mr. Edward P. Allis, for mayor. This is strange enough, but the more curious fact is that Mr. Allis, who might be elected unanimously, refuses to run at all.—Frank Leslie's

CONCERNING INGALLS.

A Few Straight Democratic Remarks by a Kansas Newspaper.

Perhaps when Senator Ingalls made his attack on the Democratic party and included Hancock and McClellan among the allies of the Confederacy, he knew exactly what he was doing. It depends upon whether he was playing for national influence or for strength with the Republican machine in Kansas. If he intended to rise higher in the estimation of the country he has blundered, for the best Republicans have unreservedly condemned the tone of the speaker. He has no prospect whatever now of a nomination which calls for a vote of the people.

If he had in view the party machine in Kansas, the worst sentences of the speech were the best. Standing on the senate floor in Washington he pulled exactly the strings which led by the shortest cut to the hearts of the Republican local leaders in his home state, and it seems that he made them dance exactly as he had calculated. He has made himself a hero with men who have pushed themselves forward by means of the superior energy of their hate and the more intense malice of their selfishness. The convention of Republican clubs at Topeka was so gleeful in its indorsement of the objectionable parts of the Ingalls speech that it had no memory for anything else. They could not see the vileness of a charge of treachery against the character of a noble hearted Union general, nor could they penetrate the disgusting low breeding of an abusive attack upon the personal attributes of the president of the United States, delivered in the senate chamber and for no reason connected with any subject the senate was discussing. No; these clamoring Republican state candidates saw only that he "had shot it into old Cleveland." That fired the embers of their burned out hearts. The antique blatherskites who made the very atmosphere muddy with speeches and resolutions at Topeka have no part in the peaceful prosperity which abides in all corners of the land in 1888. They still live in trouble. It is the food of their stomachs and the vesture of their hidebound bodies. No milk and honey for them. Disorder, comities, slanders, dissensions and plunder are the intoxicants demanded by base appetites which contracted the habit thirty years ago. The prize fighter who shakes hands with his adversary shows unpardonable weakness in their estimation. Reconciliation is for those who are still obedient to the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount. These men never read that part of the Bible. They probably would advise their followers not to buy meat of a Democratic butcher, not to borrow money of a Democratic capitalist, not to bury a dead Democrat, and not to travel on a railroad which carries Democrats. A gay old carnival of relics was that convention.

Though Mr. Ingalls may have caught the rhenmy fossils and may through them work into a re-election to the senate, he must not imagine that he has caught the people of Kansas. The state is growing, changing and broadening. The thousands of new settlers in towns and on farms bring a desire for continued peace and its accompanying rapid increase of wealth and comfort. They want capital for railroads, for banks, for credits. They want plenty of free movement in all sections of the country, that men and money can travel to the west. In their calculation it would be better that Kansas should have a reputation for generosity, cordiality and good manners, than for malice, party malice carried to the point of frenzy and unending abuse of Democrats. Neither Mr. Ingalls nor the gyrating old retired list at Topeka really represents Kansas.—Kansas City Times.

A Gassy Scheme.

The "Blaine or busters" continue their attempt to discredit the sincerity of their idol. Their purpose to try and nominate the Maine statesman in spite of his deliberate and definitive withdrawal is becoming every day more apparent.

The Tribune, for example, records the election of delegates in Ohio under such heads as "Not for Sherman," "Smashing the Sherman Slate," at the same time giving prominence to letters reasserting that "Mr. Blaine's letter does not preclude his nomination, and if made unanimous he is too brave and noble to decline."

Another indication of this purpose is found in the fights that are fomented between supporters of other candidates. There is scarcely a Republican prominently named for the nomination against whom serious objections are not urged by the organs or adulators of Mr. Blaine. Their purpose evidently is to have the other candidates kill each other off, while the man from Maine is "out of the contest," and then bring him forward at the last moment as the only candidate on whom all can unite.

It is a game too easily seen through to deceive anybody. We adhere to the opinion expressed on the morning after the last election in this state—that "Mr. Blaine will not be renominated by the Republicans."—New York World.

Mothers and nurses may give Simmons' Liver Regulator to the children and to the most delicate home-bound invalid with the utmost confidence in its safety and efficacy. It saves no end of doctors' bills. Always keep it in the house, for it is a household remedy, and there are many ailments that the Regulator will cure. It is safe to take in any condition of the system. No fear from exposure after taking this medicine.

Catarrh, when chronic, becomes very offensive. It is impossible to be otherwise healthy, and, at the same time, afflicted with catarrh. This disagreeable disease, in its most obstinate and dangerous forms, can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It is better to go through life like a sunbeam than to chill those around us with the frost of ill nature.

Incandescent Light.

The Jenney Electric Light and Power company are constructing and will soon have in operation an incandescent light system. The company will furnish light in business places without extra charge for wiring to all those who subscribe for the same before the 1st of May, 1888. The expense for electrical appliances, wiring, etc., amounts to nearly one-half a year's rental for the light. This liberal offer of furnishing all wiring free to those customers who subscribe before May 1, will hold good only until that time, after which free wiring will be discontinued. MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT, for Rheumatism, Sunburn, Sciatica, Lame Back, Stiff Joints,

They Don't Own the Country.

Some ten years ago Lord Rosebery, a very bright young nobleman and now one of Mr. Gladstone's most trusted lieutenants, paid a visit to this country. After listening to the talk of American politicians, reading American newspapers and watching the course of public events for a few weeks, the shrewd young peer observed: "These Republicans, you know, seem to think they own the country." The general tone of Republican politicians and newspapers in regard to national affairs was never more pithily described. If any one should take them in earnest he would be forced to believe that they regard the Democrats very much in the light in which the people of Rome at the beginning of the Fifth century viewed Alaric and his Goths. They continually picture the party that includes more than half the people of the United States as bent upon the ruin of the country's industries, as devoted to the surrender of American interests to European manufacturers and as desiring the reduction of the earnings of American wage workers. The humor of this portrayal of the pet objects of the great Democratic party is heightened by the fact that it is, to a far greater degree than its rival, a party made up of wage workers. To accuse the Democratic party of a wish to lower wages is like charging the southern negroes with scheming to restore slavery. To assume that the Democrats are less patriotic than the Republicans is so absurd that the assumption has only to be stated in these naked terms to be repudiated by the very politicians and newspapers who continually bring the accusation by inference. In fact, the handful of denationalized Americans who have lost faith in the institutions of their own country and who actually pass their lives abroad, educate their children there or at least in their hearts prefer the systems of government in force in Europe, are Republicans to a man. But nobody is justified in accusing the Republican party, on their account, with a lack of patriotism as a whole.—Buffalo Courier.

But They Are Not Wise.

Senator Ingalls' late speech has been published in pamphlet form for circulation "as a Republican campaign document." If the Republican leaders are wise they will suppress it as quickly as they did Judge Lawrence's biography of Senator Sherman.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A Discreet Silence.

B. F. Jones, chairman of the national Republican committee, persists in saying nothing about the possibility of Blaine's candidacy this year. In this respect he resembles other Republicans. Nobody is saying as much about the matter as Mr. Blaine has expected.—Chicago Herald.

Small Hopes Now.

This is a bad year for Blaine stock. The shutting down of the Small Hopes mine means the closing out of Blaine stock, which a year ago was worth $100,000 and which produced a revenue of $80,000 or $40,000 for the Maine statesman.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Proper Question.

If Bob Lincoln and Fred Grant cannot be elected on the mere ground that their fathers were great and good men, what is to become of Ben Harrison, who only has a grandfather to go on?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Dissed in the Air.

The voice of the Blaine banquet is still heard in the land and is to very harsh discord to the owner of the Sherman beam.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Let Him Think So.

Young Mr. Lincoln announces that he is out of politics, and he evidently believes that the announcement is important.—Atlanta Constitution.

The Woods Are Full of Them.

A stone thrown at random in almost any part of Illinois at present would be sure to hit a candidate for governor.—Chicago News.

Sound Advice From a Republican.

It would be well if the negroes in the south should join the Democratic party.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Too Modest Altogether.

Senator Ingalls is entirely too modest in acknowledging the authorship of his prophetic letter about President Cleveland. It is a letter which no political prophet should wish to have burned.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

Must Be Sanguine of Something.

The Republicans are quite sanguine of their ability to carry Maryland this year. They entertained the same hope last year, but it proved a delusion.—Boston Herald.

Well, We Should Say Not.

Mr. Blaine must not take his nomination for granted.—New York Herald.

Lost.—"I don't know where, I can't tell when, I don't see how—something of great value to me, and for the return of which I shall be truly thankful, viz.: a good appetite."

Chandler Has Subsided.

Senator William E. Chandler, of New Hampshire, is about the quietest man in Washington of late weeks. Mr. Chandler's effort at leadership was almost too vehement to be enduring. Exactly who sat upon it is not made public; but the fact that some one squelched it out is patent to the most superficial observer.—Boston Herald.

Deep Enough Already.

Senator Vest expresses the opinion that Senator Ingalls is in a deep enough hole already, and that there is no occasion for any effort on his part to make it deeper. He is eminently correct. The Missouri senator can well afford that the two speeches shall go before the country as they stand.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Getting Tired of It.

It looks as though the Republicans of Ohio were dead in love with Senator Sherman. They have had a tremendous flirtation with him, but now that the time has come when they must propose or back out they are in a terrible state of mind. And so is the senate.—New York Herald.

Martyrs to Headache

Seek relief in vain, until they begin to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Then they regret the years of suffering they might have escaped had they tried this remedy earlier. The trouble was constitutional not local; and, until Ayer's Sarsaparilla did its effective work as an Alterative and Blood Purifier, they were compelled to suffer.

The wife of Samuel Page, 21 Austin st., Lowell, Mass., was, for a long time, subject to severe headaches, the result of stomach and liver disorders. A perfect cure has been effected by Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Frank Roberts, 727 Washington st., Boston, says that he formerly had terrible headaches, and until he took Ayer's Sarsaparilla, never found any medicine that would give Permanent Relief.

"Every Spring, for years," writes Lizzie W. DeVean, 282 Fifteenth st., Brooklyn, N. Y., "I have had intolerable headaches. I commenced the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla last March, and have not had a headache since that time."

"I suffered from headache, indigestion, and debility, and was hardly able to drag myself about the house," writes Mrs. M. M. Lewis, of Acton, Lowell, Mass. "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has worked a marvelous change in my case. I now feel strong and well as ever."

Jonas Garman, Esq., of Tyktas, Pa., writes: "For years I have suffered dreadfully, every Spring, from headache, caused by impurity of the blood and biliousness. It seemed for days and weeks that my head would split open. Nothing relieved me till I took Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This medicine has cured me completely."

When Mrs. Genevra Belanger, of 24 Bridge st., Springfield, Mass., began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, she had suffered for some years from a serious affection of the kidneys. Every Spring, also, she was afflicted with headache, loss of appetite, and indigestion. A friend persuaded her to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which benefited her wonderfully. Her health is now perfect. At the council meeting to-night the most important matter to be presented is the introduction of a general natural gas ordinance. This ordinance has been proposed, not in the interest of the city. It will provide how natural gas franchises must be obtained; will provide for regulating the price for gas, etc. Any company that desires to come in under this ordinance will then be at liberty to do so.

Mrs Sophie Lee, of 21 West Jefferson street, was tendered a very pleasant surprise party last evening, the occasion being the anniversary of her 32d birthday. The affair was arranged by her sisters Misses Minnie, Louisa and Mary, and their friends, and so quietly was it done that Miss Lee was taken completely by surprise. The first warning she had was when she was aroused from her sleep by the ringing of her door bell and over thirty guests invaded her pleasant home. The party was made to feel "at home," however, and at midnight a delicious repast was served. The occasion was an enjoyable one, and Mrs. Lee's friends wish her many returns of her birthday anniversary.

One more rehearsal of the grand chorus for the Y. M. C. A. concert will be held to-morrow evening, at the Masonic Temple, followed on Thursday and Friday evening by the concerts. There has never been better work done by a chorus, and Professor Heath has again demonstrated his ability to drill an unorganized body of singers into a chorus which responds to him as one voice, and produces music of the highest merit. Do not wait to be called upon by ticket sellers for these entertainments, but make your arrangements at once to attend, and invite your neighbors and friends to accompany you. The box office for the sale of reserved seats will open at the Temple, at 10 o'clock, Wednesday morning. Arrange to secure your seats at once.

DOWN AND OUT.

Water Works Trustees Meyer and Hunkle Resign for Business Reasons.

Yesterday afternoon, Mr. J. F. Wm. Meyer resigned his position on the board of water works trustees, giving as a reason that his business affairs did not permit him to devote necessary time to the affairs of the water works department.

This morning, Mr. E. B. Kunkle, another member of the board of trustees resigned for similar business reasons, and as Mr. Hisleitz's term expires next month, the voters will be called to elect three members of the board of water works trustees, as the declinations above are final and in good faith.

Now that the feeder canal is the property of the electric light company and forever out of the question, the campaign will be made on a plea for cheap water, and every candidate will be forced to define his position on this great public question.

The water works were built to supply the people with good water at its actual cost and the demand for such a construction of the law is now so strong that no man or party can ignore it.

The names of Supt. C. D. Law, Mr. R. A. Hoffman, Mr. Louis Fox, Mr. Christ Wenninghoff, Mr. Louis Rastetter, Mr. Charles Pape, Mr. Fred Eckert, Mr. S. M. Foster were freely mentioned as suitable candidates for water works trustees to-day, although the gentlemen are of varying political beliefs.

The democratic city central committee will be called to meet this week and arrange for the nomination of water works trustees, as well as candidates for the council in all the wards.

BUSINESS MEN.

They Meet and Pay Their Respects to the Dying Toll Roads.

The regular monthly meeting of the Business Men's exchange occurred last night and was called to order by Vice-president Seavey, with Mr. J. B. Monning as secretary. The minutes of the previous meeting were adopted, as was also the following resolution:

Whereas, The charters of at least one, and probably two of the present toll roads in this county have expired, they having been constructed under the statute providing that they should become free after the expiration of said charter.

Therefore, Be it resolved that the county commissioners be requested to take immediate and proper steps, to cause the toll gates on said roads to be removed, and that the following named members of this exchange be appointed a committee to present this resolution to the commissioners of the county, and urge prompt action on this question: D. N. Foster, Alex Lauferty, Fred Beach, J. F. W. Meyer, John B. Monning, committee.

The room committee, consisting of Messrs. Eckart, Winch and Schlatter were then authorized to look for rooms more centrally located than the present exchange headquarters. The exchange is stronger than it ever was.

Flour and Potatoes.

Best flour, Orff's, Monning's or St. Mary's mills, $4.20 per barrel.
Choice Potatoes, $1.00 per bushel.

ECHOES OF THE RAIL.

Rainy Days are Not Pleasing for Reporters, by any Means, and This Column Proves It To-day.

Most of the passenger trains were on good time this morning.

The freight business on the railroads has been good this week.

The rainy weather made news very dull around the railroads this morning.

The furnaces in the blacksmith department of the Bass works are being repaired.

Work is picking up rapidly in many of the manufacturing establishments of this city.

Pittsburg engine, No. 70, was disabled last night and is now in the shops for repairs.

Frank Mannix has accepted a position with the Nickel Plate in the machine shop at Conneaut, O.

Charley Taylor, machinist at the Bass works, is detained from duty on account of the sickness of his wife.

D. L. Smith, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania company at this place, is at Denver, Col.

James Housh, the Pittsburg brakeman who had his hand mashed while coupling cars, is getting along nicely.

The moulding rooms of the Bass foundry were running at full blast this morning and all the employes were at work.

Superintendent of Motive Power John Mackenzie, of the Nickel Plate, arrived in the city on No. 3, this afternoon, on a tour of inspection.

John McKean, a machinist in the Bass foundry, has returned from Chicago, where he has been for several days on business for the works.

Engineer James Harigan, of the Nickel Plate, who has been in ill health all winter, has fully recovered and is again handling his iron steed.

Rainesmith & Simonson will receive several new planing machines this week, which will be placed in their mills. These machines are the largest in the city, and will give the mills the required capacity to meet the work.

Frank L. Wilson, a clerk in the Boston and Providence freight office at Boston, has confessed to embezzlements of the company's funds. His stealings may reach $10,000.

C. C. Mordough, of Indianapolis, traveling passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, was the guest of Mr. John E. Ross, the ticket agent of the Pennsylvania, last evening.

Frank M. Caldwell, formerly district passenger agent of the Pennsylvania at this place, but now traveling passenger agent of the Erie, with headquarters at Indianapolis, was in the city to-day.

Messrs. Groff, Edwards and Messenger, department foremen in the railroad shops of the Pennsylvania company at Wellsville, O., are in the city. They were visitors at the Fort Wayne shops this morning.

General freight agents are much encouraged over the improvement in business the last three days, and the largely increased inquiry for cars indicates that traffic the present week is to be much heavier than for some weeks past.

The interstate law went into effect on April 6, 1887, but rates in many cases were not advanced for ten days, as it may be assumed that for another week the roads which carry eastbound business will make unfavorable exciting comparisons with last year.

The officials of the C. B. and Q. road, Saturday, notified General Manager Henderson, of the Ohio, Indiana and Western, the "Q's" principal connection in this territory, that all passenger trains would be put on to-day, and run on the same schedule as prior to the strike.

The Pennsylvania Company and the Vandalia expect this week, to renew their contract with the United States postal department for five years for the fast mail service between New York and St Louis. The last few weeks the service has been quite satisfactory to the government.

NOT SO BAD.

The Electric Light Works Force will Not be Reduced.

Mr. R. T. McDonald, the general manager of the Jenney electric light works, was seen at the Wayne hotel last evening and said:

"We have arranged to build and operate a branch factory at Plymouth, but will not reduce our force of workmen in the Fort Wayne shops, or suspend a single man. On the other hand we will enlarge and add new buildings to our Fort Wayne works this year and continue to make this the home of the Fort Wayne Jenney Electric Light Company."

The company operates a branch factory at Boston and can afford to tickle Plymouth for $170,000.

The Building Boom.

Glutting & Bauer have been given a permit to build a frame building on lot 97, old plat, to cost $600.

David Cramer, to build a two story frame house on lot 196, Hamilton's 4th addition, to cost $1,000.

Magdalina Balls to build two, two story brick buildings on lot 6, Rockhill's addition, to cost $1,600.

Jacob Pfleiderer to build a two story frame house on lots 11 and 12, White's 3rd addition, to cost $900.

Fred Limecooly to build a two story frame house on lot 139, LaSelle's addition, to cost $700.

Notice to Tax Payers.

I will be in my office every night from 7 o'clock until 8:30 o'clock, from Monday the 19th March to April 16th.

H. C. BANGHOFF,
17t2 City Treasurer.

TELEGRAPH TALK.

It was awful dull around the depots this morning when our reporter reached them in the course of his regular morning tramp. The quietness of a funeral seemed to reign over everybody and everything, and ticket agents and baggage masters were as dumb, or as speechless, at any rate, as clams. Our reporter pumped them, but the pumping process was in vain and nary an item could he get from their sealed and silent lips.

The news had evidently taken wings and flown away, or the fellows around the depot were determined to hide it from the eagle eyes of our news hunter John E. Ross and George P. Gordon, at the Pittsburg, knew nothing and Jim Ross was equally ignorant. At the Wabash, Baggagemaster Brooks said he hadn't seen anything that looked like an item, and an inquiry at the ticket office of J. M. McConnell and Robert Douglass left our stroller in a worse plight, for he had nearly exhausted all the hopes of his salvation from an absolute news panic, but it is a very cold day when a newspaper man gets left altogether.

Our young man spied O. L. Perry at his desk in the Western Union telegraph office and to him he flew in his distress, but horrors! Perry didn't know anything either. Determined to pump him for all the pumping process was worth our youth broached the subject of politics, bicycling, removing the telegraph office down street again, but they all failed to move the monopolistic manager until the remark came:

"A telegraph office, it seems to me, ought to be a very interesting place, and I suppose there are some queer mistakes and strange uses in which dots and dashes have some times figured?"

The question seemed to not like a chaser, and our news hunter, rewarded at last for his persistency, dropped in a chair as he listened to the pleasant manager's reply:

"It is wonderful," said he, "how much imperfect knowledge and misconception there is in regard to this subject. One day during the time I was an operator a lady apologized to me for faults, &c., in a telegram she had sent, from another city to my office, offering the excuse that it was the first time that she had ever sent one, I assured her, of course, that there was no occasion to apologize, since the original document did not, of course come into my hands. On another occasion an old lady came into the office and handed me a telegram duly addressed. I immediately began to open it. 'What are you about?' she exclaimed in surprise. I explained to her as politely as I knew how that it would be impossible to send the message without first seeing it. 'Then,' she replied, giving me a piercing look, 'hand it back to me. Do you suppose I'm going to let you read my private affairs? I'd sooner not send it at all.' And she left the office in high dudgeon.

"While there are comparatively few people so ignorant of the workings of the telegraph as the two ladies I told you about, yet occasionally quite amusing ignorance is displayed by people one should think would know better. Serious blunders take place occasionally, also, from the imperfect writing of the receiving operators. You have, of course, heard the story of the famous doctor who was sent on a fruitless journey by receiving a telegram worded: 'Don't come too late.' As originally handed into the telegraph office the message read: 'Don't come, too late;' but in the transmission the signal denoting the comma was omitted, and hence the great inconvenience the recipient was put to.

"Not a few marriages have taken place between telegraphists, the courtship having been carried on through the medium of the wires. Nor need you wonder that Hymen sometimes plays a part when I tell you that a certain love code exists, known only to the parties most interested.

"On one occasion I also knew it to be used for a very different thing from making love.

"One night about two o'clock I was suddenly awakened in the room at my boarding house by hearing a faint ticking which sounded not very unlike a telegraph instrument, only it was more indistinct.

"In an instant, from the force of habit I was wide awake, although it took me at least half a minute before I realized that I was not in my office and had been called over the wire. I listened and the ticking began again. 'Come up; all right,' is what I heard. I pinched myself to make sure I was not dreaming, but I again heard the ticking. 'Come,' is what it said this time. I jumped out of bed, and, seizing my revolver, started toward the door. As I did so I heard some one rapidly running down the stairs. I opened the doors and ran down the steps, and reached the sitting room just in time to see some one jump through the window and run. From the echo of the rapidly retreating footsteps I could tell that there were two pairs of legs. Burglars had pried open the window and got into the house. One of them had evidently come up stairs and given his companion on the second floor the telegraphic signal to 'come up,' which meant that the coast was clear, and that all the occupants of the house were asleep."

The Diamond King.

Dr. White Cloud was cheered by a large and pleasing audience last night at the Princess rink when he announced that he had concluded to grant the request of hundreds of friends who asked the doctor to remain another week and give his free entertainments and sell his great Warm Spring Indian remedies, which have caused great good in Fort Wayne. Give the doctor another call to-night.

Y. M. C. A. Concerts.

The managers of the grand Y. M. C. A. concerts have made every effort to provide entertainments which will please our people. The program for the two nights are printed in this issue. Read them over carefully, and consider the object for which the concerts are given. There has been erected a grand Y. M. C. A. building in a convenient location, which is now practically finished, except furnishing. To provide this a large amount will be needed, part of which has been raised, but not nearly enough. The railroad department rooms, which have been productive of so great benefit, and which made the organization of a Young Men's Christian Association here a possibility, is in need of funds to expand their work and cover the expense of improvements made. We need $1,500.00, and if our people respond liberally each night of the entertainment, the amount will be secured. Let the crowds be so great that the card, "standing room only" will be hung out at the Temple.

Reserved seats for first night of the Y. M. C. A. concerts can be had at Masonic Temple box office Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Secure your seats early. Seats for Friday evening, second night, can be secured Thursday morning at same hour.

Tickets are now on sale at Klinkenberg and Detzer's for the chorus concert at the Temple on the 12th and 13th. General admission 50 cents; reserved seats 25 cents extra, to be paid at the box office. 6-5t
